DOCTOR DICKERING FOR SON'S RETURN, FRIEND REVEALS

Payment of $28,000 Is Likely To Be Made Today, Spokesman Who Refuses to Permit Use of His Name Declares.

TRUCE OPENS WAY FOR NEGOTIATIONS

Accomplice Believed To Be Brain Behind Deported Mattson Kidnap; Ladder Is Studied.

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 29.—(AP)—A friend of the Dr. W. W. Mattson family disclosed late tonight negotiations for the return of kidnapped Charles Mattson, 10, are "definitely under way" and payment of the $28,000 ransom will likely be made within 12 hours.

The spokesman refused to allow his name to be used. He said the "truce" called by Department of Justice agents searching for the boy stolen from his home Sunday night had opened the way for negotiations between the family and the abductor.

Dr. Mattson, father of Charles, was reported ready to pay the $28,000 ransom demand "in his own way" after refusing dozens of offers of financial aid. The family friend said Dr. Mattson lacked any such amount in cash when Charles was stolen but had obtained it since Sunday.

The family friend's statements followed by only a few hours assurance from another spokesman that "none of us connected with the case expects any development of any kind tonight."

Dr. Mattson, physician father of the boy, and officials of the Seattle Times said they knew of no connection between the kidnapping and a classified ad in the newspaper which drew speculation whether it was an attempt to contact the kidnaper.

The police disclosed they had seized a ladder nearly two months ago at the mansion of George Franklin. In the early afternoon, police, looking for a ladder, had been frightened away from the place on two occasions.

Arrival of a special delivery letter during the morning at the home of Dr. W. W. Mattson stirred reports that the missive might have been from the kidnaper, who had taken Charles out of his home at pistol point and left a note reputedly demanding $28,000 ransom.

However, family spokesmen and Justice Department agents alike reported no progress toward return of the boy.

A classified advertisement in the Seattle Times aroused speculation of a ransom payment.

Woman Treasurer Is Robbed of $5,418

CENTRAL FALLS, R. I., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Two masked men took $5,418 at gunpoint from Miss Mary Kerola, treasurer of the Kerola Bottling Company, today and escaped in an automobile.

Miss Kerola was on her way to a bank when the holdup men dropped from their running board and motioned with pistols for her to pull her car to the curb.

Atlanta Executive Dies

DAVID H. STRAUSS DIES IN FLORIDA OF HEART ATTACK

DAVID H. STRAUSS.

Department Store Executive Had Lived in Atlanta 42 Years, Coming to U. S. From Germany.

David H. Strauss, vice president and treasurer of Rich's, Inc., and for 40 years a vital figure in the southeastern mercantile field, died Monday night at a Hollywood, Fla., beach hotel as a result of a heart attack suffered Christmas Eve. He was 61.

Mr. Strauss had gone to Florida for the Christmas holidays with his children, the Misses Marie and David Strauss. He failed to rally following the heart attack, and grew steadily weaker.

A dominant figure in the commercial, civic and social life of Atlanta, Mr. Strauss had been a resident of the city 42 years, coming here as a youth of 19 from his native Marienbad, former German municipality now a part of Czechoslovakia.

He was honorary consul for Czechoslovakia in the territory comprising Georgia, Florida, North and South Carolina. His only official connection with the city government was as a member of the sinking fund commission, which administers the liquidation of the city's bonded debt.

For a short time following his arrival in Atlanta, Mr. Strauss was associated with the old Capital City Bank, resigning that affiliation to become associated with Rich's.

Mr. Strauss' rise in the employ of Rich's was steady and rapid, a tribute to his business sagacity, and for more than 25 years he had been a dominant figure of the institution, one of the city's best known men.

GOVERNOR REVISES INSURANCE SET-UP

Talmadge Highway Letting Halted by Court Order; Heck Not to Quit

Harassed by reports that his successor, Governor-elect Rivers, would cancel his contracts with insurance companies for $6,000,000 worth of policies on state property, Governor Talmadge yesterday ordered the three-year policies previously contracted for torn up and two-year policies substituted in their stead.

It was understood the move was made in an effort to forestall a cancellation order by Governor-elect Rivers, if such action is necessary. The contracts expire in December, 1938, or shortly before the next governor finishes his first term.

No announcement of the change was made, but Jesse Draper, a Talmadge supporter, who is sharing in the commissions, said "it is fixed so that Rivers can make the new contracts before he retires."

The action by the Governor came shortly after a new thorn had been planted in his path to private life in the form of an injunction halting the letting of $363,000 worth of highway contracts, a large part of which were to be let by the state highway commission, controlled by the senate.

POPE IS GROWING STEADILY WORSE

Gloomier Note Sounded in Vatican Reports on Condition of Pontiff.

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 30.—(Wednesday)—Pope Pius XI early today was reportedly said to be doing gloomier note appeared in Vatican reports of his condition.

Dr. Amanti Milani, the Pontiff's chief physician, spent the night in the papal apartments, frequently checking the condition of his patient.

The phrase describing his holiness' condition as "satisfactory" almost daily since the Pope was stricken, disappeared, to be replaced by "prolongation of the Pope's present state cannot contribute improvement to his general condition"—"sleepless resulting from terrific pains in the left leg and weakening of resistance."

Physicians said they still were hopeful of finding an effective sedative to relieve the Holy Father's pain, but without interfering with the feeble action of his heart.

Despite Pius' critical illness extensive preparations were being completed for sailing of the "pontifical ship," the Conte Rosso, bearing Cardinal Dougherty, of Philadelphia, as papal legate to the international eucharistic congress at Manila.

Evans County Enters Race For Constitution Awards

Editor of Claxton Enterprise Pledges His Board as 'Champions of Georgia'; Prominent Educator, Congressman, Official Join in Praising Offer.

EVANS IS CONFIDENT OF AWARD VICTORY

R. E. L. Majors, editor of the Claxton Enterprise, Evans county newspaper, yesterday definitely accepted the challenge of Toombs county in The Constitution Progressive Government awards in the following telegram:

"Commissioners of Evans county instruct me to say for them 'it may be possible for Toombs county to win second prize in 1937, but that Evans county will be the champion of Georgia.'"

By HERMAN HANCOCK. Commissioners of Evans county yesterday accepted the challenge hurled by B. H. McLarty, editor of the Lyons Progress, in behalf of Toombs county, as Georgia counties groomed themselves for the $7,500 Progressive Government awards offered by The Constitution.

In a telegram to The Constitution, R. E. L. Majors, editor of The Claxton Enterprise, asserted the five commissioners of Evans "will be the champions of Georgia." McLarty asserted

COMMISSION HITS 1937 BUDGET SNAG

City May Cut Service to Public in Effort To Remain Within Income.

Legislation to relieve the city of hospitalization and emergency relief costs was discussed yesterday by members of the budget commission, who struck a $635,000 snag in their initial attempt to strike a balance in the 1937 budget sheet.

Figures in a tentative budget drawn by Comptroller B. Graham West show a total of $12,496,411 in anticipated revenue and appropriations of $13,209,864, representing a difference of $633,452.

The commission adjourned after three hours of deliberation until 10 o'clock this morning, when consideration of the problem will begin again.

Total figures in West's tentative budget represent all revenue and proposed appropriations including schools. The revenue for the city was estimated at $8,951,000, or at least $633,000 less than sums set up in the tentative budget for the 34 nonschool departments.

Drop Anticipated. Tax assessors reported they anticipated a drop of $10,000,000 in valuations for personal property for 1937, due to the extra number of defaulters who paid up in 1936. This represents a drop of $106,000 in revenue.

Mayor-elect Hartford and commission members asserted Atlanta has too many services to support, more than any other city its size, and is limited in its revenue. The fact that Atlanta supports St. Vincent's, Grady hospital, Battle Hill sanitarium and contributes to emergency relief, the Community Chest and various other charitable enterprises, was pointed out.

Hartfield said a survey of other cities comparable to Atlanta revealed they did not have such extra expenses.

The city of Atlanta is attempting to render too much public service on the basis of its limited income," the mayor-elect said.

In the $633,000 difference is $241,000 for base salaries. It has already been predicted base salaries will not be restored in 1937 and in all probability the city's present salary schedule will be eliminated in the 1937 budget.

This sum includes $25,000 for direct

Saved From Gang by Talmadge, Officer Reinstated, Asks Pension

Reduction of Patrolman J. S. Melton's sentence of one year to a $100 fine by Governor Talmadge was revealed last night as the public safety committee of city council voted to reinstate Melton and to accept his immediate application for pension.

Melton was convicted last spring of receiving a stolen car and was sentenced in the superior court to serve from one to two years on the chain gang. Though Judge E. E. Pomeroy recently denied a motion for a new trial, the State Prison Commission recommended the offense be reduced to a misdemeanor and punishment be suspended.

5,000 INSURGENTS SLAIN BY LEFTISTS ON CORDOBA FRONT

Spanish Loyalists Drive Back Nazi-Aided Rebel Soldiers in Huge Battle in Southern Sector.

MADRID, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Socialist troops killed 5,000 Fascist troops and drove back enemy forces, who were aided by four battalions of German soldiers, in a southern offensive, the Madrid defense junta announced today.

Shifting of the current battlefield from fortified Madrid to the strong Fascist territory of Cordoba resulted in decisive gains for the Socialists, sad dispatches from Andujar, in Jaen province.

Fascists entrenched around Lopera and Villa Del Rio were bolstered by the German troops and several squadrons of cavalry, the dispatches said.

Capture of a cemetery at Teruel and Mount Hansuelo, the war ministry asserted, gave Madrid forces complete domination of the Zaragoza valley north of the capital and leading toward the city of Zaragoza—Fascist stronghold since the civil war broke out.

Within the capital, officials avowed their pleasure that the United States Department of State had ruled favorably to permit shipment of nearly $3,000,000 in airplanes and other armaments to Socialist defenders at Bilbao.

The planes were purchased in America from a private firm.

Artillery fire against the Madrid defenses was intermittent throughout the day, but there was no concerted and damaging advance.

WORKERS MAY GET SCHOOLS' SURPLUS

Fund of $112,000 Expected To Be Prorated Among Department Employees.

An expected surplus of approximately $112,000 in the Atlanta school department probably will result in an extra pay day for all school employees, it was indicated yesterday.

Collections from both the city and state have been above anticipations, and it was predicted the 1937 school board, which meets to organize January 4, will vote it as a refund to school employees who are working under cuts ranging from 4 to 30 per cent.

B. Graham West, city comptroller, yesterday said approximately $100,000 more than was allocated to the schools has been or will be collected by the city this year, while the state department of education already has paid the Atlanta schools 5 per cent more than the schools had set up in the budget from this source.

With President E. S. Cook slated to be re-elected president of the school board Monday, it was expected the board will follow its custom for the last three years in prorating the $112,000 surplus among the workers.

Last year the refund to the school employees totaled about $45,000, and was distributed according to salaries. The state yesterday sent the schools a check for $22,000, which brought its total paid to 85 per cent of the allocation. School department officials had carried the anticipated revenue from the state at 80 per cent of the fund from the state, thus obtaining a $12,000 surplus from this source.

The city's percentage payment is expected to be even better. The schools get 30 per cent of tax revenue raised by the city, and collections were better than anticipations in 1936.

D. F. McClatchey Jr., of the fifth ward, will be the only new member of the school board to take office January 4, a few hours before the new city administration is sworn in. The board consists of Cook, McClatchey, Mrs. Z. V. Peterson, Dr. H. J. Penn, Ernest Brewer and Mrs. D. F. Long, representing the six new wards of the city.

Two Held After Raid On Georgian Tavern

County police paid a sudden noonday visit yesterday to the Georgian tavern on North Forsyth street, seized 11 quarts of rye whiskey, 12 quarts of gin and two gallons of mixed cocktails, and arrested two men—one on liquor and the other on lottery charges.

George Campbell, manager, made $300 bond at Fulton tower after being arrested on liquor charges and was released. George Brown, an occupant of the place, made $200 bond after police said they arrested him while writing the "bug."

Raiding officers were S. D. Vaughan, Calvin Cates, Jesse Anderson and J. F. Wray.

Deplores Sale of Planes

F.D.R. ACTS TO BAR SHIPMENT TO REDS

Legislators Hope To Pass Law in Time To Ban Planes for Loyalists.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The Roosevelt administration swung into action today to plug a gap in its neutrality law and prevent a proposed shipment of American airplanes and motors to the Spanish government.

President Roosevelt suggested new legislation to give him discretionary power to prohibit such exports to nations suffering internal strife.

The present neutrality law provides for embargoes on arms shipments to warring nations but not to forces engaged in civil conflict.

At a press conference the President commented directly upon the license obtained yesterday by Robert Cuse, president of the Vinalart Company, Ltd., of Jersey City, to export $2,777,000 worth of planes and motors to the Spanish Loyalists.

He said the State Department previously informed applicants for such licenses that the shipments would be in violation of the spirit by the law although not specifically barred.

90 Per Cent Amenable. He said 90 per cent of businessmen had gone along with the department and he praised them for it.

He added the action by Cuse was a case of the other 10 per cent of businessmen, whose actions he condemned as contrary to the country's interests, even though perfectly legal.

Mr. Roosevelt expressed the opinion that if the new congress quickly extends the neutrality act to cover countries torn by internal strife, Cuse could not recover damages if he were prohibited by the new law from carrying out his contract.

The recent supreme court decision upholding presidential arms embargo powers would prevent recovery, he said.

When a reporter mentioned that Cuse contends the airplanes were not for war purposes, the President said the same plea was made by shippers during the early stages of the World War.

Before the President spoke, Chairman Pittman, Democrat, Nevada, of the senate foreign relations committee, was planning to seek quick enactment of a neutrality amendment to stop a proposed shipment.

Drafting an amendment which would authorize the President to prohibit munitions shipments to either side in a major civil war, he expressed hope it would be passed in time to block the Cuse shipment.

Pittman called the Cuse proposal "Europe is trying to prevent arms and ammunition from going to either side." Pittman continued. "This suit is continued in Page 6, Column 4."

POWERS CONSIDER REQUEST TO F. D. R. TO BAN EXPORTS

Neutrality Act Not Operative in Civil War, But It Is Pointed Out Foes Could Be Called Belligerents, Arms Refused.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Fears that the American government's action in licensing the export of airplanes intended for the Spanish Socialist government may influence Reichsfuehrer Hitler's decision on intervention in Spain were expressed in informed circles here tonight.

The Washington State Department yesterday approved shipment of $2,777,000 worth of planes and parts by a New Jersey firm to Bilbao, Spain, on the ground the neutrality act does not bar such shipments in case of civil war.

For several days European capitals have been waiting anxiously for Der Fuehrer's decision on a Spanish insurgent plea for the dispatch of German regular divisions to Spain and on the question of "volunteers" in the Spanish war.

The British government studied all information bearing on the possibility President Roosevelt will act to tighten the neutrality law and align the United States with efforts of European powers to keep arms out of Spain.

Foreign office officials awaited a report from Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador at Washington, on the sale of American airplanes to the Valencia government.

Informing the Burgos Fascist junta as belligerents or by asking congress to amend the law to include civil war.

Sudden expansion of legislative action at Washington would be welcomed in London, it was stated.

Officials said it would be "useless" for the foreign office to urge the here to ban arms shipments by its 28 member nations if munitions could flow freely from countries outside the agreement.

The foreign office continued work on details of a tentative plan for a "mild" six-power naval blockade in

7 Burned at Dance As Dress Catches Fire

SELMMA, Ala., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Nearly a score of young society men and women of Selma were burned, seven of them critically tonight, when a young woman dancer tossed a lighted match aside, igniting the fancy costumes worn by the dancers. All were rushed to hospitals, where the most seriously injured were identified as:

Miss Conner Lee Gayle, 18, of Selma, Miss Ed Smith, Miss Tyler Wilby, Mrs. James Rowell, Mrs. Fay Agee, Mrs. Alston Keith.

About 10 or 15 young men, escorts of the young women, were less seriously burned when they pulled off their tuxedo coats and attempted to smother the flames.

The accident happened at the Selma Country Club.

CONGRESS WILL DEAL WITH FARM TENANCY, JOE ROBINSON SAYS

Amendment to Social Security Act, Is Seen by Senator.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 29.—(P)—Farm tenancy was listed today by Senator Joe T. Robinson as one of the "major subjects" with which the approaching congress will deal.

Leaving for Washington with Mrs. Robinson, by automobile, the senator predicted less speed in legislative matters and said he did not believe any new important tax legislation would be brought forward.

"If business continues to improve, we ought to be operating on a balanced budget by the end of two more years," he said. "Prosperous conditions may be expected to reflect themselves more fully in the increased number of laborers required by private enterprise unless this proves true, measures relating to shorter hours of labor will prove inevitable."

Legislative Outlook.
Discussing the legislative outlook, he said:

"One of the major subjects will relate to farm tenancy. No complete solution of the evils inherent in the present has suggested itself or been proposed. It is likely a limited number who are found qualified to acquire homes will be afforded the opportunity through legislation similar to that passed through the senate last session known as the Bankhead bill."

Robinson predicted congressional action to amend the social security act in administrative features and to aid states whose legislatures have not had an opportunity of enacting such measures; to strengthen neutrality laws and ratify peace pacts in the western hemisphere.

Hasty Legislation.
"My thought is that hasty legislation is no longer necessary," he said. With reference to tax legislation, he commented:

"It does not appear to me likely that important federal tax legislation will be brought forward. The act of 1936 has demonstrated its value as a factor in economic recovery and there is no likelihood that the tax on undivided surplus corporation earnings will be repealed. I should like to see a modification of the act which will encourage the investment of surpluses in new enterprises under proper and fair conditions. It is also true that relatively unimportant 'nuisance' taxes may be repealed."

ATLANTA WOMAN ADMITS SHOOTING
Mrs. Bobbie Brownlee Held in Montgomery After Wounding of Man.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 29.—(P)—Chief of Detectives Paul Rapoport said today Mrs. Bobbie Brownlee, 21-year-old Atlanta resident, admitted she shot and seriously wounded J. D. Atkins, of Montgomery, at his downtown home last night.

The comely young woman, who said she had two children, was held on suspicion pending the outcome of Atkins' wound.

"We had been quarreling all day," Rapoport quoted Mrs. Brownlee as saying. "Tonight he heard me call my husband and tell him I was coming home on midnight bus. We fought again and he made some remark and I shot him."

Mrs. Brownlee said she came to Montgomery with Atkins yesterday from Atlanta.

Ring Uses Painless Bruise Device In Fake Accident Claim Business

Ex-Deputy Sheriff of Chicago Happily Explains Operation.

By PHIL NEWSOM.
CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—(UP)—A grand jury investigating the story of a ringleader of a ring of professional accident claimers, heard George L. West, 55, rotund, self-confessed "chaser," tell how the ring used a special suction device to produce the skin discolorations.

"They'll fool any expert," he said, "and they're painless. That's what makes them good."

West was a good-humored tool in the ring, and his double chin was marked with frequent bruises.

"The easiest way to collect damages without hurting anyone," West explained, "is to get a fellow who will work with you, blacken him up with the bruising machine and then wait for a good street car accident, or something else where a lot of people are banged up. Then I turn him over to the lawyers who collect."

A minor street car crash two months ago started police and state's attorneys on their investigation.

The motorman of one reported his car empty at the time of the crash. Later, a score of persons demanded compensation for injuries sustained while riding in the supposedly empty car.

He laughed again when he explained he couldn't demonstrate the machine because a doctor had borrowed it to fix up a patient with "fresh bruises."

The ring, he said, worked like this: "My lawyer came along, picked up the victim and brought him to my place. He worked on him with the bruising machine and covered his clothes with dirt. Then he was ready to go to court."

West told of a man injured by bricks falling from an abandoned building. The owners, he said, carried no insurance.

"We kept the bruises fresh," he said, "until a street car accident occurred."

Germany Sends Warships to Force Spain to Release Nazi Passenger

BERLIN, Dec. 29.—(P)—Nazi warships pointed toward the northern Spanish coast tonight to force surrender of passenger and cargo of the German freighter Palos, released today by Socialist Bilbao.

The freighter, seized by Basque authorities last night, was released "upon demand of the cruiser Koenigsberg," a curt foreign announcement said.

But the cargo, which the Basques said was munitions despite Nazi denial, and one Spanish passenger, were held. They now must be surrendered or Nazi warships will retaliate by searching ships of any or all nations heading for Bilbao, Germany warned.

The cruiser Koeln and a torpedo boat were dispatched to the Bay of Biscay sector to force the Bilbao authorities to free the Palos' passenger and its sequestered cargo.

Torpedo boat convoys for German vessels were ordered earlier, and tonight this order still stood, a foreign office spokesman said.

Germany is fully aware of the dangerous implications of its threat to block shipments of war materials to Bilbao by searching ships, the spokesman said, but is confident it will not be forced to carry out the threat.

COTTON EXPORT CRISIS IS REPORTED TO U. S.

Association Wires Wallace Ships 'Too Busy' to Carry Lint.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29.—(UP)—The American Cotton Co-operative Association today requested "immediate release" of ships tied up in the government "graveyard" here, for use as carriers of cotton to Japan and other oriental nations.

The association sent telegrams requesting release of the ships to officials of the United States Maritime Commission and to Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace. They said the association was suffering through lack of cargo space for important shipments of cotton to the orient.

Association officials said the increasingly difficult task of finding bottoms for cotton shipments was caused by demand of grain and other exporters for every available ship.

"For use in more profitable business," the officials declared, "in effect, that continuing prosperity was causing them to lose money."

Many of the available ships are being sent into the South American trade for use in importing fertilizer materials, especially from Chile, leaving no room readily available for the eastern staple shipments.

"The situation is regarded by A. C. C. A. as more stringent than the shortage in 1935 and again in 1936, when similar requests were made and badly needed ships put into commission."

NEGRO CUT TO DEATH, OTHERS ARE WOUNDED

George Barnes, negro, 43, address unknown, was stabbed to death last night in a yard at the rear of 1562 Akron street, and Rosa Daniels, wife of Columbus Daniels, negro, of 1318 Hardee street, was slightly wounded in an altercation.

Police reported they were seeking Columbus Daniels in connection with the stabbing. Hospital attaches said the Daniels woman would recover.

William Appling, negro, of 66 Terminal street, was shot in the abdomen last night during an altercation at Davis and Mitchell streets. Police reported they are seeking Eva Mitchell in connection with the shooting. Appling's condition was reported as "fair."

COTTON EXPORT CRISIS IS REPORTED TO U. S.

Association Wires Wallace Ships 'Too Busy' to Carry Lint.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29.—(UP)—The American Cotton Co-operative Association today requested "immediate release" of ships tied up in the government "graveyard" here, for use as carriers of cotton to Japan and other oriental nations.

The association sent telegrams requesting release of the ships to officials of the United States Maritime Commission and to Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace. They said the association was suffering through lack of cargo space for important shipments of cotton to the orient.

Association officials said the increasingly difficult task of finding bottoms for cotton shipments was caused by demand of grain and other exporters for every available ship.

"For use in more profitable business," the officials declared, "in effect, that continuing prosperity was causing them to lose money."

Many of the available ships are being sent into the South American trade for use in importing fertilizer materials, especially from Chile, leaving no room readily available for the eastern staple shipments.

"The situation is regarded by A. C. C. A. as more stringent than the shortage in 1935 and again in 1936, when similar requests were made and badly needed ships put into commission."

Germany Sends Warships to Force Spain to Release Nazi Passenger

BERLIN, Dec. 29.—(P)—Nazi warships pointed toward the northern Spanish coast tonight to force surrender of passenger and cargo of the German freighter Palos, released today by Socialist Bilbao.

The freighter, seized by Basque authorities last night, was released "upon demand of the cruiser Koenigsberg," a curt foreign announcement said.

But the cargo, which the Basques said was munitions despite Nazi denial, and one Spanish passenger, were held. They now must be surrendered or Nazi warships will retaliate by searching ships of any or all nations heading for Bilbao, Germany warned.

The cruiser Koeln and a torpedo boat were dispatched to the Bay of Biscay sector to force the Bilbao authorities to free the Palos' passenger and its sequestered cargo.

Torpedo boat convoys for German vessels were ordered earlier, and tonight this order still stood, a foreign office spokesman said.

Germany is fully aware of the dangerous implications of its threat to block shipments of war materials to Bilbao by searching ships, the spokesman said, but is confident it will not be forced to carry out the threat.

NEGRO CUT TO DEATH, OTHERS ARE WOUNDED

George Barnes, negro, 43, address unknown, was stabbed to death last night in a yard at the rear of 1562 Akron street, and Rosa Daniels, wife of Columbus Daniels, negro, of 1318 Hardee street, was slightly wounded in an altercation.

Police reported they were seeking Columbus Daniels in connection with the stabbing. Hospital attaches said the Daniels woman would recover.

William Appling, negro, of 66 Terminal street, was shot in the abdomen last night during an altercation at Davis and Mitchell streets. Police reported they are seeking Eva Mitchell in connection with the shooting. Appling's condition was reported as "fair."

sion to relieve the shortage of berth space," the association said.

L. D. Estes, traffic manager for A. C. C. A., said nine ships were released in a similar situation in the fall of 1934 and six ships were released last October.

Rates have taken a sharp rise with the past few days' jump for orient-bound ships from 28 cents per hundredweight to 40 cents.

The situation in Texas ports is said to be similar to that here.

SECURITIES REGISTERED.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(P)—New securities issues totalling $286,800,000 were registered with the Securities Commission in November. This compared with $320,330,000 in October (when the American Telephone & Telegraph Company registered an issue of $175,000,000) and with $289,772,000 for the same month last year.

MOTOR DEATH TOLL.
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 29.—(P)—Dr. Stewart G. Thompson, State Board of Health statistician, predicted today Florida's 1936 automobile death toll will exceed that of 1935.

Fatalities in the first 11 months of this year totaled 540, compared to 517 for the corresponding period of last year. The 1935 total was 597.

$5,103,034 ALLOTTED FOR GEORGIA ROADS BY FEDERAL BUREAU

$3,233,279 for Regular Highways and $646,656 for Farm Arteries.

Georgia yesterday received an apportionment of $5,103,034 for highways and grade crossing eliminations in 1937, according to an announcement made in Washington by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

The amount is the state's share of the $200,000,000 fund voted by Congress last year.

The state will get $3,233,279 for regular highway aid for primary roads, $646,656 for farm to market roads and $1,223,099 for grade crossing eliminations.

The money, set up for the fiscal year beginning July 1, will become available immediately after the first of the year.

An apportionment of $12,273,957 to Texas was the largest made by Secretary Wallace.

The fund was apportioned on the basis of population, area and post road mileage. The act provided $125,000,000 for primary federal-aid highways, $25,000,000 for secondary, or farm-to-market roads, and $50,000,000 for elimination of grade crossing hazards.

The secondary road allotments were the first made under a "regular" federal program, although money was provided for that purpose from emergency funds appropriated to ease suffering from droughts and the depression.

The 1938 fiscal year allocations, by states, included:

State	Regular Secondary Grade	Aid Roads	Federal or Federal Crossings
Alabama	$2,464,983	$322,839	$1,013,170
Arkansas	1,847,732	437,550	893,408

Girls See Grandfather Become Justice of High Court

Two little girls, Virginia Owens, 11, and her sister, Harriett, 7, took precedence over justices of the supreme court and judges of the court of appeals yesterday when their grandfather, Judge Frank Jenkins, of the court of appeals, received the oath of office as a justice of the supreme court. Judge Jenkins is on the left and Governor Talmadge, who administered the oath, is on the right.

JENKINS TAKES OATH FOR SUPREME COURT

New Justice Sworn in Before Fellow Members and His Family.

In the presence of his fellow members of the court of appeals and members of his family, Judge W. Frank Jenkins, of Eatonton, yesterday took the oath of office as a justice of the supreme court of Georgia, which position he will assume Friday upon the retirement of Justice S. Price Gilbert, of Columbus.

Justices of the supreme court with whom he will be associated in his new post also attended the brief ceremony in Governor Talmadge's office. The Governor administered the oath. Justice Gilbert did not offer for reelection and Judge Jenkins, who has presided over the first division of the court of appeals for a number of years, was not opposed for the office. Judge Jenkins will be succeeded on the court of appeals by Judge Jule W. Felton, of Montezuma.

Justice Jenkins' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Owens, of Roanoke, Ala., and his two grandchildren, Virginia Owens, 11, and Harriett Owens, 7, were present at the ceremony.

WPA QUARRY WORKING COST ATLANTA $32,000

Chief Donaldson Says City Will Resume Own Operation in New Year.

It cost the city of Atlanta $32,000 for the WPA to operate the city's rock quarry during 1936, Chief Donaldson, chief of construction, said yesterday in announcing Atlanta will take over the quarry again beginning January 1.

Chief Donaldson asserted WPA workmen turned out 25 per cent less rock and stone from the quarry than the city did under its own operation, and that city construction work had suffered as a result.

At the last 1936 session of the sewer committee, of which Alderman Frank H. Reynolds is chairman, Donaldson said the city will begin work in the quarry Friday with city prisoners. The quarry had been operated by WPA under an agreement to produce enough rock for the city and for various WPA projects.

ATLANTA IS GIVEN NEW RESERVE POST

Paul L. T. Beavers To Become Managing Director of Birmingham Bank.

Paul L. T. Beavers, of 1331 Emory circle, N. E., who has served as assistant cashier of the Federal Reserve Bank here several years, will take over his new post as managing director of the Birmingham branch of the Federal Reserve on January 1, bank officials announced yesterday.

Beavers held the position of assistant cashier since 1929. Prior to that time he worked for 10 years as a clerk in the discount department. He received his earlier training in a railroad office here, as clerk and bookkeeper for a grain and feed establishment, and as clerk, accountant and cashier for the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co.

DISAGREEMENT MARKS UTILITIES MEETING

Organization Formed at Decatur, Ala., to Promote Municipal Ownership

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY.
Decatur, Ala., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Sharp disagreement over moves to promote municipal ownership of utilities arose today after organization of the Southeastern Power Consumers' Association by representatives of 18 cities and cooperatives in Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Georgia.

A resolution urging prompt decision by the United States supreme court on the constitutionality of PWA loans for municipal power systems was defeated 8 to 6 after it was described as "presumptuous" by City Manager George Dempster, of Knoxville.

Dempster opposed the resolution from the floor.

Mayor Roy Ingram, of Tarrant City, Ala., was named permanent chairman of the group today.

The resolution in question provided that a committee be appointed to confer with Secretary Ickes on the feasibility of requesting the attorney general to petition the supreme court to rule at this time of court on the test case filed by the Alabama Power Company, which has tied up allotments by the PWA to cities planning municipal electric systems.

A second resolution, asking the government to take no step in dealing with power companies which would infringe on the right of municipalities "as expressed through vote of the electorate, to determine its own civic policies," was defeated, 9 to 5.

A third, proposing that the Tennessee Valley Authority be requested to begin experiments to provide electrical house heating, also was voted down, 8 to 6.

Dempster opposed both as "ridiculous." He termed similar resolutions as efforts to "peep over the President's shoulder" at a meeting in Chattanooga several weeks ago, before delegates from various southeastern cities voted to adjourn "forever."

A resolution praising President Roosevelt passed unanimously today. Ingram opened the organization session by saying the purpose of the association was to co-operate in combating "opposition" of private power companies to "municipal ownership of utilities."

Virtually all of the communities represented here today are in the Tennessee valley area. Ingram said all hoped for "TVA power."

Executive committee members, one from each state, named today were: Alabama, Hart Green, Sheffield; Georgia, Dr. D. S. Middleton, Rising Fawn; Tennessee, John W. Horton, Tullahoma; and Mississippi, Clint Vinson, Meridian.

CALHOUN WOMAN IS SHOT TO DEATH
Mrs. Charlie Adcox, 45, 14 Found Dead in Brother's Office in Courthouse.

CALHOUN, Ga., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Charlie Adcox, 45, was found shot to death in the office of her brother, George L. Fox, county commissioner of Gordon county, in the courthouse here today.

No one else was in the office at the time Mrs. Adcox is reported to have gone to her brother's office today.

Shortly afterward, persons in adjoining offices heard a shot and when they entered the office of Commissioner Fox they found Mrs. Adcox dead. One shot having been fired through her heart from a .38 caliber revolver.

A sealed note addressed to her brother was found on a table in the room.

Commissioner Fox is absent from the city, attending the funeral of another sister in Hot Springs, Ark.

No inquest was held.

Mrs. Adcox is survived by her husband; another brother, Charlie Fox; one son and two daughters, Abner Adcox, Mrs. Jack Alexander and Frances Adcox; her father, J. C. Fox, of Hot Springs, Ark.

FEW OFFICE CHANGES ARE MADE AT ATHENS
ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 29.—(AP)—There will be little change in the governments of the city of Athens and Clarke county in 1937.

Courthouse visitors will see only one new face next year. Bert L. Rensse will succeed Coroner J. F. Shepherd, who did not seek re-election.

In the city government, Mayor Thomas S. Mell and seven councilmen of the 10-member body will keep their posts.

The three new aldermen are Joe Shepherd, who succeeds Eugene L. Wier, retired; R. T. Dotterer, who succeeds A. M. Center; and W. T. Stewart, who succeeds C. F. Crymes.

GROUND IS BROKEN FOR BIG PULP MILL

Work Begins at Brunswick on Huge $7,000,000 Paper Plant.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Ground was broken here today for the construction of the plant of the Brunswick Pulp & Paper Company, which when completed in its entirety will represent an expenditure of $7,000,000, and the initial work calls for the improvement of highways leading to the site.

The plant, a joint subsidiary of the Mead Corporation of Chillicothe, Ohio, and the Scott Paper Company, of Chester, Pa., will be erected on filled-in marsh lands on Turtle river, convening several hundred acres.

Officials of the company also announced today that more than $1,000,000 worth of contracts for machinery of the latest and most modern type and fixtures for the plant already have been awarded, with others to follow within the immediate future.

Bids for dredging work to fill in the vast marsh tract will be opened and awarded during the next two weeks, it was said.

ALBANY GUARD KILLED AS 2 CONVICTS ESCAPE

Hunt Staged in Lee County for Prisoners After Tom Lewis Is Fatally Shot.

ALBANY, Ga., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Officers conducted an intensive hunt in Lee county tonight for two convicts who escaped after a guard was fatally wounded.

The guard, Tom Lewis, died a few hours after being shot in the head with his own shotgun, loaded with buckshot.

Sheriff O. F. Tarver, of Dougherty county, advertised rewards of $100 each for capture of the two men, listed on prison records as Fred McKinnis, serving eight years for the attempted holdup of an Albany telephone box office, and Edgar Rose, serving five months on a misdemeanor charge.

The men fled in a county-owned truck, but near Leesburg, 20 miles northwest here, held up a motorist and took his car. The car later was found abandoned off the main highway between Leesburg and Smithville.

Funeral services were held here today.

MRS. SALLIE DAVIS.
ROME, Ga., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Sallie Davis, 82, passed away Sunday afternoon at a local hospital after a short illness. Mrs. Davis was born in Georgia county in 1854 but had been living in Floyd county for the past 50 years. Her husband, H. J. Davis, died several years ago. She was a member of the Baptist church for many years.

Mrs. Davis is survived by seven sons: W. H. J. B., C. L., C. H. and G. C. Davis, all of Floyd county; J. C. Davis, of Chula, Ga.; and R. H. Davis, of Redon, Ga.; three daughters, Mrs. J. H. Moore, Mrs. S. W. Carney and Mrs. M. L. Earle, all of Floyd county; two half-brothers, Jonah and Tom Talley, of Gordon county; three half-sisters, Mrs. Dallis Turman, of Dalton; Mrs. Lucy Turman and Mrs. Lewis White, of Gordon county.

The funeral services were held this afternoon from the Floyd Springs Baptist church with Rev. W. J. Cooper and Rev. J. B. Ward officiating. Interment was in the Curryville cemetery.

P. L. ELROD.
ROME, Ga., Dec. 29.—(AP)—P. L. Elrod, 33, passed away Sunday evening at his residence near Rome after a long illness. Mrs. Elrod was born in Floyd county and spent his entire life here. He was a member of the Bush Arbor Baptist church.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Wilson Elrod; four children, Frances, P. L. Jr., Pascal and Nellie Elrod, all of Floyd county; his mother, Mrs. W. H. Middleton, of Rome; four sisters, Mrs. Maggie Brewer, of Cave Spring, and Mrs. M. H. Edwards, of Morrison Campground; one brother, Alner Elrod, of Cave Spring.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon from the Bush Arbor Baptist church with Rev. S. H. Pendley officiating and interment was in the adjoining cemetery.

M. H. CARNES.
ROBERTA, Ga., Dec. 29.—(AP)—M. H. Carnes, 68, prominent Roberta man who built the second residence here, died at his home yesterday after a long illness.

Mr. Carnes, for 42 years manager of the telegraph station here, becoming operator three months after its establishment, had been confined to his home for two years.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at the Roberta Methodist church.

BEN B. BROWN KILLED IN GRIFFIN ACCIDENT

Head-on Crash of Cars Fatal to Farm Owner, as Ed Ridley Is Injured.

GRIFFIN, Ga., Dec. 29.—Ben B. Brown, 75, pioneer citizen of Griffin, was instantly killed and Ed Ridley received a broken knee and lacerations in a head-on collision of two automobiles four miles from Griffin on the Williamson road tonight.

Brown had been to one of his farms and was returning home to supper. Ridley was the driver of the Buick sedan. Brown was going home from work. There were no other passengers in either car.

Brown was born in Pike county and moved to Griffin when a young man. He was one of the largest owners of farms in middle Georgia and was a large stock dealer. He was president of the Middle Georgia Farm and Home Association, a member of the Georgia Agricultural Society and had been connected with many business firms in Griffin and was considered one of the "builders of Griffin."

For years he was chairman of the board of stewards of the First Methodist church and was a member of the board of trustees.

He is survived by his widow, one son, Ben Brown Jr., and one daughter, Mrs. A. K. Maddox.

FLOYD JAILER READY TO DEFEND PRISONERS
ROME, Ga., Dec. 30.—(Wednesday)—(AP)—Turnkey George E. Gilman, of the county jail, said early today he had received a report a crowd of men was headed here in search of two negroes held in a charge of breaking into a store at Dalton and setting fire to the place after binding the storekeeper.

The turnkey did not disclose the source of the report.

"I'm prepared as far as preparations can be made and I think we'll be able to handle any situation," he said.

The negroes are charged with arson, assault with intent to murder and burglary.

The storekeeper at Dalton, Walter Schneider, said he was tied up and his clothing soaked in kerosene in the burning store after he refused to give up his weekend receipts. Schneider managed to save himself by rolling out of the store.

The negroes were brought here from Dalton for safekeeping.

RUFUS ROY GAGE, 66, PASSES IN HOSPITAL
Rufus Roy Gage, 66, salesman for the American Paper Goods Company, died yesterday at a private hospital. He resided at 1110 Boulevard, N. E.

Mr. Gage had been a resident of Atlanta since 1927, when he came here as a representative of his firm, which is located at Kensington, Conn. He was a member of Braden Lodge, F. & A. M., St. Paul, Minn., the Pittsburgh, Pa. consistory of Scottish Rite Masons, and he was also a member of the Shrine.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elma S. Gage.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Spring Hill. The officiating minister and place of burial have not yet been selected.

RAIN WILL CONTINUE, WEATHERMAN AVERS
No letup on the rain is in sight for Atlanta, according to the weatherman. Mild temperatures will continue, according to Chief Forecaster George W. Mindling, but the outlook is for clouds and fog and mist and light rains.

"It is still raining over in Texas where all this started," was the word from the weather bureau. "It looks as though Atlanta has no hope of relief for 24 or 36 hours."

The rain and mild temperatures are keeping back the cold that is being held in check in Colorado.

Yesterday the mercury ranged between 57 and 65 degrees. Today the range will be between 55 and 65 degrees.

PELHAM DAILY PAPER TO REVERT TO WEEKLY
PELHAM, Ga., Dec. 29.—(AP)—J. B. Chism, owner and editor of the Pelham Journal, a long-established weekly newspaper which recently began appearing daily, said today the Journal would again become a weekly publication.

The Journal, Chism announced, will continue its membership in the Associated Press, and the news and photo service of that association will continue to appear in the Journal.

The final edition of the daily appearing this week. The weekly Journal will appear as usual on Friday.

LEGUME COVER CROPS AID FARMER AT ROME
ROME, Ga., Dec. 29.—(AP)—J. W. Sutton, a co-operator of the Soil Conservation Service in the demonstration area near here, estimated planting of winter legume cover crops for four years has increased his cotton income more than $100 per acre.

Sutton said in 1932 before he began planting winter legumes on the land, he produced a half-bushel of cotton per acre. In 1936, he produced two bales of cotton per acre on the same land.

HEAD OF NEWS BUREAU RESIGNS AT ATHENS
ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 29.—(AP)—President Harmon Caldwell announced today the resignation of Charles I. Reynolds Jr., who has been in charge of the University of Georgia News Bureau for the last three years.

Reynolds joined the University staff after graduating here in 1933. While a student he was editor of the campus newspaper.

It is understood he will enter the weekly newspaper field.

'MARXISM' WARNING ISSUED BY SIBLEY

Judge at Augusta Says Security Act Is Step Toward Socialism.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Foreseeing no danger to America from its present liberal government if "we keep our minds steady," Judge Samuel H. Sibley of the United States circuit court of appeals, told the Augusta Rotary Club today the social security legislation "is the longest step we have proposed to take on the road to Socialism."

The judge spoke on the subject "Karl Marx." He was presented by honorary Rotarian William H. Barrett, district federal judge who will sit with Judge Sibley in a three-judge hearing tomorrow. Judge E. Marvin Underwood, of Atlanta, is the third jurist.

"The things we are playing with," Judge Sibley told the Rotarians, "are so staggering that... everyone ought to be putting the very best in them on their solution."

Starting from the outset that his remarks were those of "Sam Sibley," and not of Judge Sibley, the speaker reviewed the life and works of Marx, calling him "the father of modern Socialism and the grandfather of modern Communism."

"This is true," he said, "because Communism is the daughter of Socialism."

He called the book written by Marx, "Das Kapital," "the Bible of half of Europe," and called Marx himself "the apostle of the idea that things are wrong between capital and labor."

ALFRED LOYD, 66, PASSES IN HOSPITAL
Alfred L. Loyd, 66, died yesterday at U. S. Hospital No. 48 after a short illness. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock today from Bethany Presbyterian church in Newton county, the Rev. E. R. Daniel officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Mr. Loyd was a prominent farmer of Newton county and a veteran of the Spanish-American War. He was the cousin of Lon F. Livingston, Atlanta postmaster.

Other survivors are a brother, Lon Loyd; a sister, Mrs. Bell Blanton; one niece, Mrs. R. A. Cobb, and a nephew, H. G. Blanton.

J. T. ARNOLD, 76, DIES AT MACON RESIDENCE
MACON, Ga., Dec. 29.—(AP)—J. T. Arnold, 76, died today at his home here following an illness of about two years.

PRESIDENT TESTIFIES A. T. & T. DIDN'T WISH LARGE MOVIE HOLDINGS

Gifford Says Investment
Was Forced to Protect Patents.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. became more deeply involved with the motion picture business than it wished or anticipated, Walter S. Gifford, president of the big communications company, testified today at a Federal Communications Commission hearing.

Gifford, questioned by Samuel Seckler, counsel to the commission, told how the telephone company, through its patent license and sales unit, Electrical Research Products, Inc., became a financial backer of certain movie producing companies during the depression years.

ERPI, Gifford explained, put money into the movie enterprise to protect claims in connection with contract leases of ERPI's sound equipment.

"We went much further into the field than we anticipated and much further than ERPI anticipated," Gifford declared. "We got into it because of circumstances and conditions. It all started as a result of financial difficulties experienced by some studios."

Gifford said that from the time he became president of America Telephone & Telegraph Co. in 1925 his policy was to "stay out" of fields not directly related to communications development.

Concerning ERPI's investment of $2,000,000 in Universal Corporation depository stock, on which testimony was given yesterday by Whiteford Kane, ERPI executive vice president, Gifford said it was prompted by much the same conditions that caused ERPI to advance the old Fox Film Company more than $14,000,000 several years ago. In each case ERPI had had rental and license claims.

PAPER SAYS ENGINES
BOUGHT FROM U. S. ARMY

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The Sun says 150 airplane engines being "shipped to the Spanish Loyalist government by a New Jersey exporter were sold last month by the United States army air corps.

Robert Cuse, Jersey City exporter, secured a license from the State Department to export airplanes and airplane engines, valued at nearly $2,000,000, to the Spanish Loyalist government.

"Martin Lilling, a New York broker, was the purchaser of the engines, it was learned," Mr. Lilling obtained the as part of a large stock of surplus air corps supplies offered for sale November 22 at Wright field, Dayton, Ohio.

"The engines are of a type de-

She's gone to the drug store for TETHEINA. And I'm mighty glad TETHEINA is the thing when little folks like me have diarrhea caused by a faulty diet. It will gently and easily move the bad old waste from my bowels without irritation and pretty soon my bowels should be normal. Mother says TETHEINA is also fine for temporary constipation and colic due to sour stomach. It tastes good and costs only 30c the best of twelve powders."

Young Lawyers Take Oath of Profession

Four of the 14 applicants for admission to the Georgia bar who successfully passed the examination are shown above being sworn in yesterday by Judge Virlyn B. Moore, of Fulton superior court. Left to right, Judge Moore, W. M. Hammond, grandson of Supreme Court Justice Samuel Atkinson; T. E. Denton, of 1598 Bankhead avenue; J. G. Morris Jr., of 1674 Westmoreland avenue, who has been a deputy in the tax collector's office, and Walter A. Wojcik, of 89 Twelfth street, N. E. Two others, Claude G. Dobbs Jr., of 968 Dill avenue, and Rache Bell, of 1105 Colquitt avenue, prominent in baseball circles, were also sworn.

signing especially for military purposes, and had been used in air corps fighting planes. They were manufactured for the government by the Curtiss Airplane & Motor Company, of Buffalo, N. Y.

"According to a Baltimorean who held on the motors, planning to use them in speedboats, Lilling obtained the entire stock when his bid was revealed to be the highest of six or seven opened by Colonel Frank D. Lockland, Wright field officer in charge of the sale."

"The broker resold the engines to the Vindicator Company, of Jersey City, whose president recently applied to the State Department in Washington to ship them, and some used airplanes, to Spain."

They are of the 12-cylinder, liquid-cooled type, and are rated at 600 and 600 horsepower each. They are not considered suitable for commercial purposes and had been used by the air corps in pursuit planes and bombers, among other types.

"Among the other supplies which Mr. Lilling bought at the sale were complete hangars, valves and other equipment used by the army, the Baltimorean said. The stock was scattered about the country, at air corps supply depots, and was sold 'as is.'"

"Such sales are of a routine nature, held occasionally to dispose of surplus equipment, air corps officers pointed out."

WAR DEPARTMENT SAYS
ENGINES UNSERVICEABLE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(AP)—War Department officials insisted tonight that all obsolete stocks of airplane engines now disposed of by the air corps are first rendered unserviceable and sold only as scrap metal.

Of a report that airplane engines sold the Madrid government by an exporter had been purchased from the army, a War Department spokesman said.

"Under no circumstances could such engines be used again because they literally are converted into scrap by blow torches under long-standing regulations."

Before this rule was adopted several years ago, he added, the air corps had been accustomed to selling stocks of obsolete engines of the Liberty and Hispano-Suiza type intact, and these conceivably could be used again. It was not believed here, however, that any such wartime equipment still remained in the army.

$60,000 Expense to State.

Jesse Draper, of Atlanta, the Governor's naval aide, who is reported to have received the largest commission out of the insurance contracts, earlier in the day claimed it would cost the state upward of $60,000 in cancellation fees if Governor Rivers dropped the policies. But, regardless of the cost, it had been reported the Rivers administration would cancel the policies and call upon the companies getting the business, not the agents, to return the premiums.

Approximately $100,000 was used for premiums, the commissions totaling about $20,000.

The insurance contracts were let the day before Christmas by Talmadge, who for three years has maintained that the state should be its own insurer.

den move makes it very embarrassing to a number of governments sincerely trying to prevent expansion of the fight there.

"Ninety per cent of all the people of this country are willing to make many sacrifices to keep out of war as far as the matter of 10 per cent concerned, I'd go the limit to see that they did not endanger the peace of the United States for a miserably little profit there."

In a statement defending his plans, Cuse said in part:

"Whatever new laws may be passed in the future, the fact remains that my company has purchased commercial airplanes for shipment to a country with which we are not at war on the strength of and in compliance with the existing laws of our country and the license for their export was granted accordingly."

Ask License Cancellation.

A call for the state department to rescind the license or hold it up until congress can act came from Representative Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi.

"To hold a peace conference in South America," he said in a statement, "and then permit our nationals to pour this oil on the flames of a European conflict is like rising from prayer and going to target practice."

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, ranking minority member of the Foreign Relations Committee, endorsed "in principle" an embargo on munition shipments to either faction in any civil war.

"But in practice it will be very difficult," he said, "to define a civil war."

Borah Urges Caution.

Both Borah and Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota, an advocate of drastic neutrality legislation, cautioned against doing anything that might indicate the government was taking sides in Spain.

Asserting "it is unfortunate that any citizen should wish to take advantage of the situation," Borah said the State Department "did the right thing" in licensing the Cuse airplane shipment under the present law.

He criticized a proposed "cash and carry" amendment as "a pre-emptive strike" against the national responsibility.

Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, and some other members of congress previously had suggested that munition shipments to warring nations be barred and other trade with them limited to that for which they paid cash and sent their own ships.

Senator Nye characterized the Spanish situation as "dynamic" and warned there might be "serious danger" in trying to halt munition shipments "at this late date."

UNEMPLOYMENT BILL PASSES IN KENTUCKY

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 29.—(AP)—The Kentucky legislature passed a state unemployment compensation bill late today and dispatched it to Washington for federal inspection.

To become effective, the bill must be approved by the Social Security Board not later than Thursday. This approval was considered a foregone conclusion, since the board's representative, Irving Wood, of Washington, helped draft the measure.

While passage of this bill was the principal reason for the special session, called by Governor A. B. Chandler last week, the legislators are expected to be kept here until mid-January. Repeal of taxes on candy, soft drinks, gum and cosmetics, and passage of a rural electrification bill are among the 17 subjects that were included in the Governor's call.

CHIANG IS DETERMINED TO QUIT GOVERNMENT FOR SELF PUNISHMENT

Generalissimo Expected To Follow Custom, Return If Called.

(Copyright, 1936, by United Press.)
NANKING (Wednesday), Dec. 30. (UP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has decided again to tender the government his resignation from all the official posts he holds because of his carelessness in permitting himself to be kidnapped at Sianfu.

The generalissimo's secretary, Chen Chui, told the United Press today that Chiang insists that he be held personally responsible for the rebellion of Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang's Manchurian troops, who kidnapped Chiang two weeks ago last Saturday and freed him only after lengthy "ransom" negotiations between Madame Chiang Kai-shek and Marshal Chang.

The generalissimo also will assert that his health is poor, making it impossible for him to continue the strain under which he has worked as chief of the national government and commander of the army.

It was believed that the second offer to resign, like the first one yesterday, will be rejected by the powerful central executive committee of the Kuomintang (the Chinese political party).

Some Chinese, however, thought that Chiang would insist that he be permitted to go into retirement for some time.

There can be no question of Chiang's sincerity in desiring to follow traditional Chinese practice which demands that any statesman suffering a setback must spend some time in retirement, those Chinese said.

They thought that if Chiang does go into retirement he will return to his native village in Fengchia, China province, and permit the nation to test the ability of new leaders until such time as there is a public demand that he resume his office.

In his first offer to resign yesterday the generalissimo said that "it is apparent my work has failed to command the confidence of my fellow countrymen."

Otherwise the mutiny which nearly resulted in collapse of the foundations of the state would not have occurred.

JAMES ROOSEVELT WILL AID PRESIDENT

Son of Chief Executive Is Coming to White House.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Without title, James Roosevelt is coming to the White House to do what his father calls a lot of odd jobs.

Asked at a press conference today if his eldest son would become a presidential secretary, Mr. Roosevelt replied no title was planned for him at this time.

James, 30, accompanied the President on his recent South American voyage, acting alternately as a military aide and secretary. None of the White House secretaries was taken along.

En route to Buenos Aires, it was disclosed James had been commissioned a lieutenant colonel in the marine corps reserves.

Stephen T. Early, presidential press secretary, recently moved from his office to another across the executive lobby formerly occupied by the late Louis McHenry Howe, confidential secretary.

No one has yet taken over Earl's old office and it was assumed that James might occupy the space.

TAXI DRIVER IS JAILED IN HIT-AND-RUN DEATH

H. P. Carpenter, 25, of Dunwoody, Ga., Atlanta taxi driver, was arrested yesterday by Fulton County Officers Claude Webb and A. J. Jackson and looked on charges of murder, police said.

Carpenter is held in connection with the death of Andrew Poss, of Chamblee, Ga., of injuries sustained when he was struck by a hit-and-run vehicle on Christmas Eve night on the Roswell road, three miles from Buckhead.

He admitted hitting Poss, officers said. He is being held in Fulton tomorrow pending action by the Fulton county grand jury.

Scores of Good Uses Suggested For Constitution's Award Money

Money To Be Won by Counties May Be Used for Any Public Benefit Desired by Committee of Citizens, Officials.

The $7,500 which will be distributed in the Constitution's Progressive Government awards to the 13 Georgia counties making improvements bringing the greatest benefits to their citizens for 1937, can be diverted to many worthy uses.

Administration of the award money will be left entirely to the counties. In the Constitution's Progressive Government awards to the 13 Georgia counties making improvements bringing the greatest benefits to their citizens for 1937, can be diverted to many worthy uses.

Additional domestic science equipment could be provided for schools or a cafeteria might be established and equipped.

Hospital projects might be enlarged. New X-ray equipment bought or the day nursery might get additional facilities.

Historical spots might be marked, historic buildings might be rehabilitated and preserved for posterity.

Basketball courts, tennis courts, baseball diamonds might be established and illuminated for night games. In fact, there is practically no limit to the uses of the awards.

The winning county can make its own decision within the limits as set out. The only stipulation or limitation is that disposition of the awards shall be left to a commission composed of citizens and officials and that must be applied to some worthy public undertaking.

When a county receives an award, the money is theirs to do with as they see fit. It is not to be applied to a project for general public good.

Mountain Woman Avenges Slaying Of Her Son in Court Room Killing

JACKSON, Ky., Dec. 29.—(AP)—A mountain woman avenged the slaying of her son in Breathitt county court today in a burst of fire which killed the accused slayer and wounded two spectators.

The pistol shots came at the opening of court today in the old days slaying today in a burst of fire which killed the accused slayer and wounded two spectators.

The shots fatally wounded Johnny Shepherd, charged with the Christmas Eve shooting of William Wickline, 17, and sent some 150 spectators pell-mell for safety.

Mrs. Viola Wickline, 25, was the mother from whom a deputy sheriff snatched a pistol a few moments ago. She leaped to her feet and fired four times. County Attorney Alfred M. Russell said with no warning other than "showing a vile name as Shepherd." In jail she refused comment.

Shepherd, 18-year-old cripple, crumpled before the rail, two bullets through his stomach.

George Shouse, 27, fell with a punctured lung. Moss Noble, 25, an attorney, also a spectator, dropped with a bullet in his leg.

Shepherd died several hours later. Shouse, bearing pneumonia, was expected to recover. Noble was taken home after a bullet was removed from his leg.

Mrs. Wickline, a thin woman, about five feet four inches tall, was taken to the new jail at Hindman late today. She appeared composed. The death of Harvey Gabbard left her with only one child, late June Wickline, about 14, daughter by her second marriage.

County officers did not explain why the woman was removed. About 150 persons were in the courtroom. County Judge George W. Little had just stepped for order for the examining trial of Shepherd.

Wickline, a former inmate of the county jail, was charged with the slaying of his son. He was taken to the jail after the slaying.

She sprang to her feet and began shooting before anyone could interfere.

"I tried to grab her, but couldn't reach her in time," said Deputy Sheriff John E. Rice. He had just brought Shepherd into court.

"Some people ran for the door and some ran to grab Mrs. Wickline," Russell said. "I saw her shoot and I saw her run after the fourth shot and Mrs. Wickline and three other persons were rushed to jail."

Murder warrants were sworn out against her and against her husband, William Wickline, a farmer; Buck Gabbard, 62, former miner, a relative of the slayer; and Mrs. Mattie Gabbard, 62, former miner, a relative of the slayer.

Downs Haddix, all of whom had been sitting near Mrs. Wickline, Judge Little ordered them held without bail.

Asked why the murder charges against Wickline, Buck Gabbard and Mrs. Haddix, the county attorney declared, "They are all there," and added, "What comfort Mrs. Wickline got a pistol somewhere."

Gabbard, a taxi driver, son of Mrs. Wickline by a former husband, was shot to death in front of a pool room here. The commonwealth claimed Johnny Shepherd fired at Gabbard and Johnny's brother, Noah Shepherd, coiffed after a dispute. Noah Shepherd was charged with accessory to murder. He was taken to Winchester today for safe keeping.

Edward Krick and Sol Greenberg, of the Atlanta chapter, defeated Augusta opponents in an inter-sectional debate.

More than 200 delegates from 16 chapters throughout the south are in attendance at the three-day sessions which opened yesterday.

MATTSON NEGOTIATING FOR RELEASE OF SON

An attempt to contact the kidnaper. The advertisement read: "Mabel's right watchman, Franklin, 'Public Enemy'."

Authorities denied all knowledge of the ad or the possibility it might mean contact was being established.

Existence of the crude ladder suggested the theory that another "public enemy" was at work following a course strictly paralleling major kidnappings of the past. Police examined it eagerly for fingerprints.

The Franklin line two blocks from the Mattsons, in Haddaway hall, built by the late J. P. Weyerhaeuser, lumber magnate whose grandson, George Weyerhaeuser, was kidnaped in May, 1935, and ransomed for $200,000.

A man whose description coincided in many ways with that of the Mattson kidnaper entered Haddaway hall twice in early November, police disclosed, terrorizing members of the Franklin family.

During the second invasion, the intruder fired a pistol at the estate's night watchman, Franklin, a chain grocery operator, bought the mansion recently.

Although Police Chief Harold Bird characterized the Haddaway hall incidents as "attempted burglaries" rather than attempted kidnapping, officials checked details of the ladder in the belief the intruder perhaps was the man who abducted young Mattson.

Other Crimes Confirmed. They pointed to the kidnaper's cry, "This place ought to be good for some money," as indicating he might have considered kidnapping or other crimes at several residences in the neighborhood.

The intruder made his first attempt to invade the residence in early November, when he placed the ladder against a wall under the window of a room where Mrs. Franklin and a small son were sleeping. Awakened by a flashlight's beam, Mrs. Franklin screamed and frightened the man away.

Four nights later, a night watchman surprised a swarthy, black-bearded man carrying a flashlight and a pistol in a hallway. The man was seen sleeping in a room. The man fled when the guard ran for a rifle.

A few moments later, officers said, a mail saw the intruder on the lawn. The guard's cry for the man to halt was answered by a pistol shot from him. The man escaped through an open gate.

The Franklin family is now in California.

At Seattle the Times said an intimate friend of the Mattson family informed the newspaper he had studied the ransom note and is confident the apparently "crazed" kidnaper had a highly rational objective.

"I can't recognize the very coherent note, with the sort of crazed man who committed the kidnapping," the newspaper quoted the friend, who requested anonymity, "but I think there were two of them."

Man Believed Demented. "The man who broke into the house undoubtedly was a sane man," he said, "but the sort of person who wrote that note would not have done what the kidnaper did—smash in the French windows and kidnap the children for money and make the old statements that he did about wanting to get some money from Dr. Mattson."

The note apparently was lettered on a child's printing press to avoid tracing.

Tacoma official said the note appeared to have been carried two or three weeks in the man's pocket. Unaddressed, it was found in a room where the Mattsons had been staying.

This was taken to indicate the kidnaper had no particular victim in mind when he composed the ransom demand. It was said the note mentioned newspaper advertisements as a forerunner to ransom negotiations.

A hint that the kidnaper was in the county was given by the fact that the greatest benefits to its citizens during the year, there will be a $1,000 award for the county placing second, and $500 for the county placing third.

There will be a congressional district award for each of the 10 districts into which the state is divided. The sum of $250 will go to the county which ranks first in each district, and no county receiving either one of the first three awards will be considered for the congressional district award.

Thus every county in Georgia will have an equal opportunity to get an award. No matter how small or how large a county is, it enters the competition on an equal footing with every other county of the state.

Commissioners working co-operatively with citizens will decide what program their respective counties will adopt.

Judges will survey the entire state before making decision and every county will be scrutinized. Records of every county will be studied in the effort to determine which counties made the most improvements bringing the greatest benefits.

DOCTORLESS BOY DIES; PRAYING FATHER HELD

POTEAU, Okla., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Bill McCray, a coal miner who prayed over his pneumonia-stricken son while the child lay dying, was charged today with "wilfully neglecting to furnish medical aid."

Police Chief J. B. Russell said he found McCray and his wife praying over their 18-month-old son and two other children. He declared they declined medical aid.

"The Lord will heal them," McCray said. He was held under $500 bond tonight.

Dr. McCain characterized the awards as a "fine offer to stimulate progress in counties of our state," and added "you are providing stimulus where it will count most."

Congressman To Aid. Congressman Pace lauded The Constitution, pledged his co-operation to the 24 counties of his district in their efforts to win the awards, and congratulated Mayor Howell.

Whitfield said The Constitution has focused "public attention to the most important matter facing the people of the state—their county governments."

He predicted the progressive counties of Georgia will back the program.

Editor. "An announcement of your fine offer to stimulate progress in the counties of our state is most encouraging. International and national affairs are more spectacular than the humble developments in our neighbor counties; but I have a decided feeling that our improvements should begin at home, and I think you are providing the stimulus where it will count most. I believe it will help us to be a greater state."

Pace's Statement. Following a list of Congressman Pace's statement: "I am deeply interested in the announcement of The Constitution, offering Progressive Government awards for the coming year to the counties making the greatest improvement in their local government and rendering the greatest service to their citizens, and I congratulate Mayor Clark Howell on the plan he adopted to continue the service of this great newspaper to the people of Georgia."

I am sure that these awards will awaken a lively interest among the county officials of the state and will move them to even greater efforts as public servants. There are certain fundamental reforms that would be emergency relief for the month of January and also $23,000 for outfitting the city auditorium.

Budget commissioners today will discuss further paring of appropriations and possibly increasing the amount of anticipated revenue in order to balance the budget. The sheet is to be submitted to the 1937 council finance committee, which will have the actual job of balancing expenditures with anticipations.

Pointing to the cost of operation of the police bureau, Mayor Howell said, "It is from such items as these that the city has acquired its deficit." The burglar alarm system brought in $7,500 revenue in 1936 and salaries for its operation alone amounted to almost that figure, not counting repairs, replacements, and above all, the cost in the police department from answering false alarms. Commissioners said it was self-supporting, but Hartsfield took a different view.

Possibility that special tax investigation would be employed next year to put taxable values on the books was discussed by the commissioners also. In the event they are employed, anticipated tax assessments will be increased.

Alderman I. Glover Hartsfield represented Mayor Key at the meeting.

SHORT STRIKES OCCUR ON BROOKLYN SUBWAY

No Progress Made Toward Settlement of Marine, Auto Difficulties.

By The Associated Press. A Paris mounted guard lost his life Tuesday in strike troubles which beset the French capital, while in the United States strikers sought to bring an end to the maritime strike and an automobile workers' walkout.

One-hour "warning" strikes were staged at intervals in the day by bus, street car, subway, gas, water and electric workers. Further demonstrations were planned Wednesday by 200,000 metal workers for wage increases they said had been promised in previous negotiations.

In privately expressed opinions, spokesmen for all sides concerned in the 61-day-old maritime strike in the United States held virtually no hope for an early settlement. No progress was reported from conferences.

Seventeen hours after being called out, about 400 union bus drivers of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit lines force of 685 drivers went back to work on orders of Albert Di Palma, president of Local 1099, of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric and Motor Vehicle Employees.

Di Palma said the demonstration was a "protest against the contemptible labor-baiting tactics of the B.M.T. during the last few weeks."

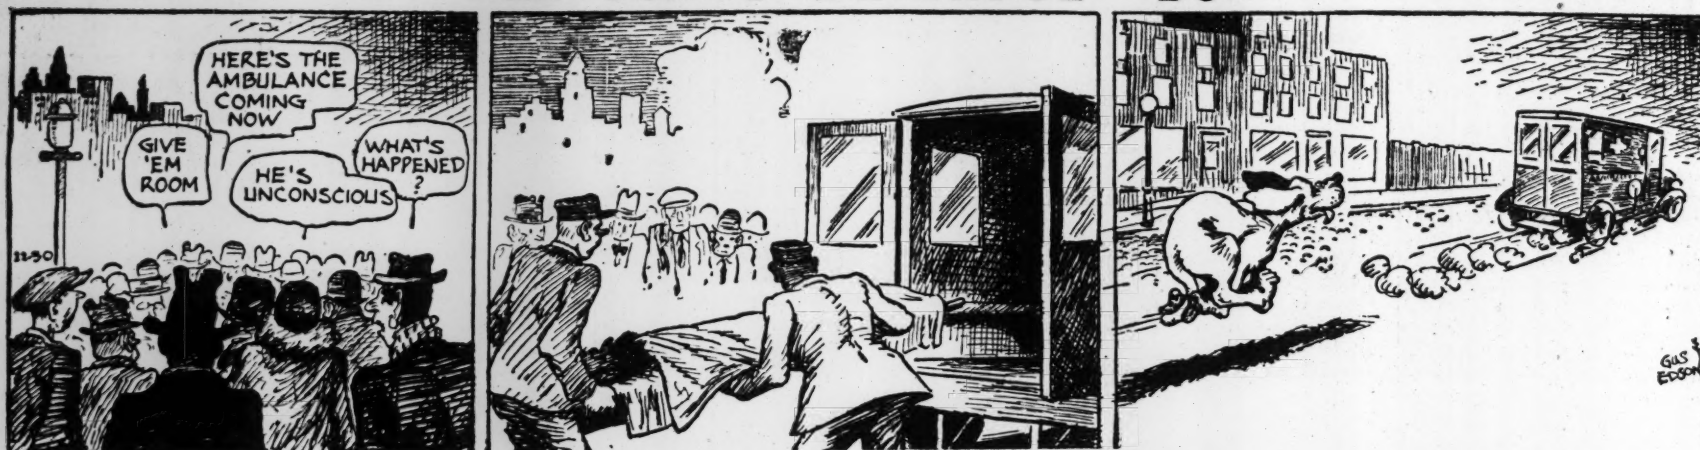

Another union official said the brief walkout was "the prelude to more serious trouble."

Ten cities in which union automobile workers are on strike at the General Motors Corporation plants will be represented in a conference of union leaders Sunday at Flint, Mich., to consider arrangements for collective bargaining negotiations with G. M. officials.

Mayor Harold H. Burton, of Cleveland, suggested that union automobile workers and Fisher Body Company executives meet to settle a "sit-down" strike there and that plant operations be resumed pending final settlement.

The plant managers agreed to the proposal. The union took the suggestion under consideration

Richard said dryly, "I think we shall have all the fireworks of the Fourth of July on New Year's Eve."

"I'll be so happy when this is all settled," Louise said wearily. "Renny is so wonderful and he'll never do anything to humiliate Christa no matter how much she's humiliated him. But he doesn't look worried."

She looked down the long dinner table and said to Richard, "I know for a fact that he's going to call on her tomorrow and they're going to reach a final decision about their affairs."

"Pure subterfuge," Richard retorted impatiently. "He'll take her back, second-hand or no second-hand, and be glad to have her. He'll defy his mother and all his friends. Constancy that is blind and stubborn is no virtue."

"Now about the party again," said Louise, turning to Arlen. "Toby will call for you, of course. There'll be an old man for Fanny. Come here and if it gets too dull, we have tables reserved at a hotel. Florida was simply marvelous," Louise continued, "but it was the wrong season. No body goes until after Christmas. I did nothing, nothing but rest."

"Because I'll be the center of all eyes? And I've always liked to be inconspicuous. I can't afford a new dress, Elissa. I broke the bank to buy the silver one. Perhaps I ought to go in sackcloth and ashes."

"Darling," Elissa laughed, "you're a marked woman, a husband-maker, and a kidnaper of the perennial infant Toby. And you look so naive, sitting across from me in your dress. It's ugly, isn't it? But love isn't ugly. Julian and I, with our shabby clothes and empty purses, find love and life very beautiful. Arlen goes to that party with your head high and looking beautiful."

He leaned forward and said intently, "This is between you and me, Christa. Whatever gossip you may have heard, put from your mind. Not the past, but the present concerns us now."

Her eyes had a queer contracted look. Renny's eyes, stark with realism, seemed to strip her of veneer. She had made up her mind to stand her ground; she would never go back to the little Jake had to offer. Now she was reaching out and holding Jake's love as a solace, knowing that Renny no longer loved her. Anything—anything was preferable to his attitude of respect and duty!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked sharply.

Renny glanced up as he filled his pipe. "You were the dissatisfied party, my dear. I came to ask you that."

Christa did the gallant thing with theatrical magnificence. "I'm going to divorce you," she said quickly jerkily. "I don't love you. I never loved you. I married you for security and position."

"You still want the position but not the security," he said, smiling faintly.

"In Paris there's a man who wants to marry me. I'm going back to marry him, sooner or later it will have come to this. I can't live your kind of life, Renny. I can't live up to you. Jake doesn't expect so much of me."

"We are just beginning to understand each other, Christa, after many years."

She went on in that quick staccato tone, "I want Allison to stay with you." She did not mention that Jake would not have Allison. "You deserve her, Renny, but I'd like her to know who her mother is, and when she's old enough to make her debut, I'd like to have something to say about it."

Why had he dreaded this scene? Why had every step in the direction of the hotel been a harsh accompaniment to misery and lost ideals? He had always loathed the dramatic scenes Christa staged. But he felt nothing? Yes, he felt free! And he pitied Christa whose radiance had dimmed, pitied the extravagant attempt at a glamorous exit. He almost believed that Jake McLean was a mythical suitor created to make the situation more dramatic. Christa wanted to think she was leaving him hurt and broken and going back to Paris to a new conquest.

"It's generous of you to feel that way about Allison. I won't teach her to forget you. Now," said Renny, "about money."

Christa put her hands to her burning face. "Money? I want—nothing! Nothing—except enough to pay my expenses in Reno and my fare back to Paris."

"Is Jake wealthy?" he asked.

"We can manage." Then she cried out half hysterically. "How do you feel about this? You sit there and calmly discuss the wreck of our marriage! You never loved me, Renny. You're glad of this divorce."

She could not bear to hear him admit that he loved Arlen. She felt that she must cry out, "Renny, I'm afraid! Jake isn't rich. He's miserably poor. I do need money. I'm taking this way out because I know you don't want me. And you're there in your power and strength and make me feel low and mean and a liar."

"I'll do everything I can to make this easier for you," he said after a pause. "About my feelings—I've exhausted most of them. What do they say—run the gamut of emotions? I'm not an articulate person. Christa, when things concern me deeply—"

"I'd still like to go to Louise's party."

"Of course." He got up and walked to the door. "I'll call for you on New Year's Eve."

"Renny," she put her hands on his arm. "Never mind," he said gently. "This is the best and the intelligent way out."

She turned away, clasped her hands behind her, and her eyes filled with tears.

He looked at her, frowning, and quite to his surprise, she stepped back, sobbing, and closed the door. At the elevator he could still hear her sobbing.

That night in his apartment he sat in a deep chair before the fire and thoughtfully puffed on his pipe. He wondered why the scene with Christa had failed to upset him emotionally. He had felt only pity and sadness for her, and he knew that a one-careless remark would have torn away what little dignity she had maintained and brought hysterical weeping. What was it that terrified her? What had happened to him? Had she hurt him so much that he could never love another woman? Would he look at all women as possible Christas with a Christa's unreasoning selfishness? He hoped it was not so, but he could feel only pain tonight, not for Christa, but for the tie that had been broken.

Toby, looking very handsome, was talking with Elissa and Julian when Arlen came into the living room on New Year's Eve.

Elissa said, "You look marvelous, darling."

Julian sniffed. "Umm... perfume scents the air."

Toby said, "You don't know how hard-hearted this fragile creature can be."

"Is it snowing?" Arlen asked.

"Lightly," said Toby. "I intended to fly up, weather permitting. I had to drive."

"Let's not go just yet. We're going to drink a toast to Elissa and Julian with the sweet wine Julian brought. Did they tell you they were engaged?"

"I always get sentimental on New Year's Eve," said Elissa, holding Julian's hand. "Last year I got sentimental on a dance floor because nothing had happened to me all that year. Let's drink a toast, a wishing toast, that all people who hate their lives be set free."

"A nice thought," said Toby, "but don't include those serving prison terms. That would double the unemployment problem. Arlen, it 10:30."

They left Julian and Elissa seated on the divan. On the elevator Toby put his arm around Arlen. "I hope you feel quite mad tonight. I do. Have the car been so confining? Did your mother come, Toby?"

"No," he said in a flat toneless voice, and Arlen decided not to question him further.

On the street everyone seemed to be going somewhere. Girls with furs framing their faces hugged tightly the arms of young men. It was one city block people of various worlds rubbed shoulders.

Arlen sat up straight and asked for a cigarette. She felt nervous. Neither her sense of humor nor her optimism could dim the dread of this party. Moreover, Toby was moody and reckless. He swore under his breath at other motorists and all but ran down a pedestrian. She wanted to say, "Toby, let's celebrate the new year by going some place and being alone, and beginning it by being honest with even other. You can say you're mad tonight and lose yourself, but tomorrow you've got to go back to Fanny."

When he parked the car, he turned to her and kissed her fiercely. Arlen said, "Not now, Toby. Let's go in." The elevator boy remembered her. "May I wish you a happy New Year Miss Leeds?"

Toby said, "I guess half of New York is here all wanting to cut one another's throats."

"Don't be disagreeable."

"I feel like breaking things into fine little pieces. Louise has excellent china for that."

CALENDAR NOTES.
New Year's Day is the closest thing we have to a world-wide feast day. In many countries to be sure, Christmas is looked upon as a more important holiday, but about two-thirds of the world's people do not celebrate Christmas.

The New Year, on the other hand, is observed at one date or another by people in almost every country. In China, India and Japan, in Persia and Arabia, in Australia, in most parts of Africa, in all countries of Europe, North America and South America, people "watch the New Year in and the Old Year out."

The difference was not great in the life of an Egyptian. If a man lived to the age of 60, it made a difference of only 15 days. The nation, however, had a "lifetime" of thousands of years. Since the calendar was not corrected, New Year's Day crept all around the year, taking place on every day in every season in the course of 1,500 years, then coming back to the rising of the star Sirius.

Efforts were made late in the history of old Egypt to correct the calendar. These efforts did not succeed. The Egyptians let the past hold them down. The old calendar had been good enough for their parents and grandparents, so they did not want to change it.

Three hundred sixty-five and one-fourth days may be taken as the length of a year in a rough way, but there really is no quite one-fourth day extra. I shall give the exact figure, down to the second, tomorrow.

Warmer Climes Beckon Atlantans To Many Famous Places in South

By Sally Forth.

WARMER climes are beckoning Atlantans and among those seeking the balmy air and brilliant sunshine are Jeannette and Baxter Maddox, who departed yesterday for Miami to visit Celeste and Charlie Moon, those erstwhile Atlantans who have resided in Florida for several years. After enjoying the many pleasures that abound in Miami, the four will sail for Nassau, in the Bahamas Islands, to spend their time under the tropical skies. After their vacation comes a close in Nassau, Jeannette and Baxter will go to Hollywood-by-the-Sea, just 10 miles up the coast from Miami, to bask in the sunlight and enjoy the privileges that make this spot a favorite winter resort.

Sea Island claims Mrs. William K. Jenkins and Sarah, her debutante daughter, who are comfortably ensconced in their attractive home on the Georgia coast, and have as their guest Katherine Gray, a sister debutante of Sarah. Also enjoying the caressing breezes that blow over this enchanting resort are Mrs. Henry A. Newman and Katherine, who is listed in the debutante coterie.

From Sea Island comes the information that Mr. Justice Price Gilbert and Mrs. Gilbert have leased a house there for January and February. Needless to say, these interesting and popular Atlantans will add materially to the cosmopolitan life at Sea Island, where notables foregather every winter to enjoy the marvelous weather and the outdoor life.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Elkin, accompanied by Miss Jennie Duncan, will leave on January 9 for Miami to escape the rigors of the winter. Leaving at this season of the year is their annual custom, and Dr. and Mrs. Elkin will spend two months away from Atlanta. Others booked to leave for Miami on January 9 are Mr. and Mrs. Gus Dodd, who will join Dorothy and Bill Satterthwaite, whose departure for sunny Miami was chronicled several days ago.

When the Monarch of Bermuda weighs anchor in New York harbor on January 9, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Atkinson will be among the passengers bound for Bermuda. They will open Atlanta-by-the-Sea, their home at Tuckerstown, which is set amid the floral beauty that flourishes in the famous islands. Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson have become an integral part of the social life of Tuckerstown, and all the celebrities foregather in their hospitable home whenever they are in residence there.

At 7 o'clock tomorrow morning one of Atlanta's ablest and most venerable jurists will lead to the altar the young lady who has taken his dictation for the past 15 years. The ceremony will be a quiet one taking place at the bride-elect's home, after which the couple will leave for a month's honeymoon journey. Upon their return they will establish temporary residence at a fashionable hotel.

However, a building site has already been purchased and very soon the erection of a handsome new home will be begun. Tomorrow's bridegroom sent his future bride a beautiful new blue car of a popular and expensive make as a Christmas gift. Perhaps you have already glimpsed her at the wheel. She is young and comely—not more than half the jurist's age, according to Sally's informant.

If you are good at guessing, you need no further clues to the identity of the couple.

ATLANTA and Griffin friends are extending a cordial welcome to Colonel and Mrs. Charles Patterson, who returned last week from an extensive wedding trip and are now at home at their charming residence on the Macdon road in Griffin. Colonel Patterson is commuting between Griffin and Atlanta, coming here each day to take up his work with the fourth corps area. The popular couple is being honored at a series of affairs during the holidays in both cities.

After their marriage, Colonel and Mrs. Patterson made a short visit to Mrs. C. Boyd Woolford, a lifelong friend of Mrs. Patterson. They also spent a while at the beautiful Farmington Country Club near Charlottesville, Va., following which they visited Colonel Patterson's sister and brother in Harrisburg, Pa. They were enthusiastic spectators at the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia, following which they spent a week in New York city.

They sailed from New York to Bermuda, where they spent two weeks in the Quarries Cottage, high up among the cedar tops,

Miss Mary Ann Carr To Wed Dr. Paul Sanger, Of Durham, N. C., at Quiet Ceremony Today

MISS MARY ANN CARR.

Miss Mary Ann Carr, lovely young daughter of Mrs. Clark Howell Sr., will become the bride of Dr. Paul Sanger, of Durham, N. C., at a quiet ceremony to be solemnized at noon today in the chapel of All Saints Episcopal church. The bride is the daughter of a prominent family and has been educated in the public schools of Durham, N. C., and the University of Virginia. She is now a student at the University of Virginia.

The Rev. Dr. W. W. Menninger, pastor of All Saints, will read the marriage service which will be witnessed only by members of the bride's family and a few close friends. Miss Carr will be given in marriage by her brother, Major Clark Howell, and her young nephews, Clark Howell Jr. and Barrett Howell, who are students at the University of Virginia. The groom-elect attended Washington Seminary here and National Cathedral school in Washington, D. C., completing her education at the Finch school in New York. She was formerly a student at the University of Virginia.

The chapel will be effectively decorated for the occasion with standard of Easter lilies, silhouetted against a screen of palms and ferns massed at the rear of the altar. The bride-elect has chosen for the ceremony a smart ensemble of rose beige woolen, cut in a modish brown hat and brown accessories. A shoulder cluster of bronze orchids will complete the becoming costume.

Miss Carr is one of the most popular and attractive belles whose presence has ever graced Atlanta social ranks. The youngest of a trio of lovely daughters of Mrs. Clark Howell Sr., and the late Julian S. Carr, of Durham, N. C., she inherits the patrician beauty and the engaging charm of her mother, the former Miss Margaret Cannon, of Concord, N. C. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. J. W. Cannon, of Concord, and the sister of Mrs. Clark Howell, of Atlanta; Mrs. Edith Howell, of Durham, N. C.; and Julian Carr, her twin brother, who is a student at Harvard University.

The bride-elect attended Washington Seminary here and National Cathedral school in Washington, D. C., completing her education at the Finch school in New York. She was formerly a student at the University of Virginia. The groom-elect attended Washington Seminary here and National Cathedral school in Washington, D. C., completing her education at the Finch school in New York. She was formerly a student at the University of Virginia.

Of petite and graceful figure, Miss Carr possesses wavy brown hair and deep blue eyes. Her vivacious charm and winsome manner have endeared her to a host of friends and she is an acknowledged belle in any circle in which she chooses to move. Her attractiveness is enhanced by her penchant for selecting the smartest costumes which she wears with a distinctive flair.

Dr. Sanger is the only son of Mrs. Paul Sanger and the late Dr. Sanger, prominent and influential citizens of Oklahoma City, Okla. His sisters are Mrs. Florence Benson and Mrs. Steven Gaunt, both of Oklahoma City. Like his bride-elect, he traces his ancestry to include many notable figures in the social, professional and cultural life of the south.

The groom-elect received his early education at the Webb preparatory school at Bell Buckle, Tenn., and took both his A. B. and M. D. degrees at Vanderbilt University. He is resident surgeon at Duke University hospital, at Durham, N. C., where he and his bride will reside following their wedding journey to New York. Upon returning to her native hearth for residence as a bride, Miss Carr will receive a most cordial welcome from a host of personal and inherited friends.

Miss Nancy Stair Is Presented To Society at Brilliant Dance

One of the most brilliant affairs of the holiday season was the debut ball at which Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Stair formally presented their lovely debutante daughter, Miss Nancy Stair, to society last evening at the Piedmont Driving Club.

The club was beautifully decorated throughout with a Christmas color scheme of red and green used to effective advantage. Smilax festooned the ceiling in the foyer, and handsome palms and ferns were arranged at intervals. Red roses and foliage were used in the lounge, where punch was served from tables centered by large baskets of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Stair, Miss Stair and Mrs. John Manogue, of Memphis, Tenn., grandmother of the debutante, received the guests in the spacious ballroom, standing in front of a background of palms, flanked at each side by tall stands of red roses. The ceiling was outlined with smilax and garlands of smilax were entwined around the columns, and caught between with varicolored balloons. Centering the mantel at one end of the ballroom was an antique silver urn filled with red roses, flanked on either side by silver candelabra holding red tapers. A log fire that burned in the fireplace added to the cheerfulness of the scene. Throughout the ballroom many red roses and palms were effectively arranged. The exquisite flowers sent the debutante by a C. C. and Garlame shot with silver, fashioned on straight lines with a semi-train. She wore light purple orchids. At 12 o'clock midnight breakfast was served, after which dancing continued until late hour.

In addition to Mrs. Manogue and Mrs. Lancaster, prominent visitors present at the ball included Mr. Lancaster, Misses Justine Rison, Eugenia and Amelia Monogue and Mrs. Claud Tully, all of Memphis; John Gilbert Neill, of Washington, D. C.; Ham Newman, Dr. Robert Robinson and William Robinson, of New Orleans, La.

Miss Stair received her guests wearing a handsome gown of woods violet silk, fashioned over net of the same shade. A drape from the shoulder fell into a semi-train in the back and a cluster of deep purple orchids completed her costume.

Miss Stair's brilliant beauty was enhanced by her becoming model of white allover satin. The bodice was built up to a cowl neck in the front and the back featured a deep square cut to the waistline. The very wide skirt, which was posed over a ruffled taffeta underskirt, was ornamented with a handsome rhinestone buckle at the waistline. Miss Stair carried an arm bouquet of semi-open red radiance roses, tied with red satin ribbon.

Mrs. Manogue wore midnight blue lace, fashioned over taffeta, with a shoulder cluster of gardenias and violets. Mrs. James Lancaster, of Memphis, Tenn., the debutante's only sister, who is the former Miss Marjorie Stair, was lovely in ice-blue lame shot with silver, fashioned on straight lines with a semi-train. She wore light purple orchids. At 12 o'clock midnight breakfast was served, after which dancing continued until late hour.

Mrs. Williams And Mr. Lunsford Wed at Chapel Rites

Of wide social interest was the marriage yesterday of Mrs. Eleanor Ches-ire Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Merryman, to John Edgar Lunsford, of Jackson, Miss., formerly of Knoxville, Tenn., which took place in the Winslow chapel of the First Presbyterian church.

Dr. J. Sproule Lyons performed the ceremony at 5 o'clock in the presence of members of the two families and a limited number of close relatives. Prior to and during the ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented on the organ by Carroll Ramsey.

The chapel was beautifully decorated with quantities of palms and fern and tall baskets filled with calla lilies. Placed amid the greenery was cathedral candelabra holding white burning tapers.

The young couple entered together and were unattended. The bride was beautifully attired in a three-piece model of gold cloth trimmed in black skunk fur. Her hat and other accessories matched and her flowers were a shoulder bouquet of bronze orchids.

After the ceremony Mr. Lunsford and his bride left for their wedding trip, after which they will go to Jackson, Miss., where they will reside.

Mrs. Merryman, mother of the bride, was gowned in a model of green crepe with hat and accessories to match. Mrs. James Lunsford, mother of the groom, wore a model of blue crepe with hat and other accessories to match. Both mothers wore corsages of gardenias.

The bride is the only daughter of her parents and attended Washington Seminary, where she was a member of the Pi Phi Club. She has never made a formal debut but has been a popular member of the younger set.

Mr. Lunsford is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lunsford, of Knoxville, and is a graduate of the University of Tennessee, where he was a member of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity. He is now connected with the Department of Justice, with headquarters in Jackson, Miss.

Miss Cecilia Lawton Weds Mr. Peabody at Home Ceremony

Miss Cecilia Lawton, daughter of Mr. Alexander Waring Lawton, of St. Simons Island, Ga., and Miami, Fla., became the lovely bride of William Jaudon Peabody, of New York, formerly of Columbus, Ga., at a quiet ceremony taking place last evening at the home of the bride's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Tift, on The Prado in Atlanta Park.

Dr. R. F. Boyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Columbus, Ga., performed the ceremony at 8:30 o'clock in the presence of a small assemblage of relatives and close friends of the young couple.

The lower floor of the home, which was thrown open to the nuptials, was beautifully decorated. An improvised altar was formed in the living room and was built of spruce, palms, ferns and other rich greenery. Placed amid the background were tall pedestals filled with Easter lilies and cathedral candelabra holding burning tapers.

Mrs. Roy Miller, of Tifton, the former Miss Marguerite Meyers, of Atlanta, acted as matron of honor for her cousin. She was lovely in her model of aquamarine taffeta fashioned with long full skirt and short puffed sleeves. She carried a sheaf of pink roses and pastel garden flowers tied with aquamarine taffeta.

Misses Margie and Anne Ragan, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ragan and cousins of the bride, acted as the junior bridesmaids. They were gowned alike wearing dainty models of pink net fashioned over pink tulle and high waisted with full skirts and long sleeves. They carried bouquets of pink roses and pastel garden flowers tied with aquamarine taffeta.

Entering with her brother, Ralph Ragan, by whom she was given in marriage and was met by the bride by the groom and his brother, T. K. Peabody Jr., who acted as best man. Her medium blond beauty was further enhanced by a gown of white satin with a long train and a full skirt.

Among out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Peabody, Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Peabody Jr., Mrs. Sara Butolph, of Columbus; Arthur Lawton, of Jacksonville, Fla.; I. W. Myers, Mrs. Roy Miller, Miss Dorothy Slack and Miss Annabelle Short, of Tifton. Alliance Francaise Plans Dinner-Dance

The traditional New Year's dinner-dance of the Alliance Francaise will be held at the Capital City Club on Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Reservations may be made by phoning Mrs. Joe Brown, Hemlock 1701-R, by December 30.

In France, New Year's Day is the occasion for family gatherings and festivities of all kinds. On this day, rather than on Christmas, the Frenchmen exchange greetings and gifts. On this "Jour de l'An," the Alliance lays aside its studies of the French art and indulges wholeheartedly in the social spirit of the day.

During dinner there will be toasts, with Charles Loridan, president of the Alliance, as toastmaster. Songs and monologues will add to the merriment. An orchestra will furnish music for the dancing and some ancient and modern folk dances will be interesting interludes.

Miss Upshaw Weds Theodore Earl Day

The marriage of Miss Lucille Upshaw, daughter of Mrs. A. B. Upshaw and Theodore Earl Day was solemnized on Christmas afternoon at Covenant Presbyterian church.

Things That Make Women More Beautiful

(Posed by Gladys George)

A Clean-Off-the-Cream Lotion for a Sensitive Dry Skin

By MIGNON.
(The Mignon who writes this column does not sell, endorse or manufacture any cosmetics.)

It seems to me that the world is full of women with sensitive dry skins and it doesn't make any difference either in what part of the country they live. One of the best of the manufacturers, a woman, has listened to their wails and brought out a tonic lotion made up according to her own special formula and good for supersensitive dry skin. I think it's a bit in a bottle full of it, and while it isn't perfect at all, it is pleasant to use.

This lotion is especially good for removing excess cold cream, for stimulating the skin mildly and for taking powder and make-up out of the eyebrows and eyelashes. I think it is one of the most important things in the making up of any woman, young or old.

One famous beauty, told me once that the greatest mistake women made was in not taking care of their eyebrows and eyelashes. She

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

KEEPING SLIM RULES. Unless you watch the scales, the calories will play tricks with your new slim figure. The final stage in every successful reducing regime is the satisfying program of keeping slender, but your perfect 34 depends upon your willingness to live down to the keeping-slim rules.

Continue to weigh and measure regularly so that you will always know just where you stand with that old enemy, adiposity. The best plan is to weigh twice a week, between meals and at about the same hour. If your weekly average shows any increase, wash them down with too many calories, and at this point a few calories of prevention are figuratively worth pounds of cure. Take your calorie cut promptly to forestall bulging consequences.

What is the biggest stumbling block in the path of keeping slim? Right you are! It is appetite. Well, you can't get rid of it, but you can keep three balanced meals a day and by keeping a close check on your calories, but if you go back to your old enemy, skipping breakfast, dieting at lunch, and eating all you wish at dinner... appetite will conquer you. It won't be long before the pounds are rolling back.

Debutantes Honored.

Mrs. John Gilmore and her daughter, Mrs. Jack Hall, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., entertained at tea yesterday at the Ansley Park Golf Club, the occasion honoring Miss Nancy, Waldo Jones and Miss Annette Hightower, popular debutantes of the season.

Assisting the hostesses in honoring guests receiving the guests were Mesdames E. E. Pomeroy, Nat Harrison, P. C. Taylor, Asa Warren Candler, Drake E. Fritz, Robert and Charles R. Andrews.

Mrs. R. H. Jones Jr. and Mrs. T. J. Hightower, mothers of the debutantes, poured coffee, and punch was served by Miss Frances Cundell, niece of Mrs. Gilmore.

Pittman—Trammell.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Dec. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jackson Pittman, of Thomasville, announce the marriage of their daughter, Leona Trammell, to Henry B. Trammell, of Cairo. The ceremony was performed on Christmas Day at the home of the Rev. A. B. Mayfield, pastor of the First Baptist church at Monticello, Fla., in the presence of a small group of friends and relatives.

Open House Planned.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morris will entertain at open house on Friday from 4 to 6 o'clock at their home on Peachtree way, the affair honoring Mr. and Mrs. Perry Oliver, of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver, the guests of their brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Oliver, are being honored at a series of informal affairs during their stay in the city.

Light—Huff.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Sue Light, of Atlanta, and Riley A. Huff, of Lawrenceville. The marriage was solemnized Sunday, January 19, in Monroe, Ga., at the home of Judge Garrett, who officiated.

For Miss Smart And Mr. Rewis

Miss Helen Aiken Smart and Mildred Rewis, whose marriage will be an event today, were honored Tuesday evening at the buffet supper at which Mrs. Goodrich C. White, aunt of the bride-elect, entertained at her home on Haywood drive.

Red poinsettias, falling plants, red candles and stately plants beautified the house. A silver bowl filled with narcissi graced the center of the table in the dining room and silver candelabra held silver tapers. Silver bells and foliage plants added an effective note to the decorations.

The hostess was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. F. O. White, of Macon, and her sisters, Mrs. E. B. Chappell, of Nashville, Tenn., and Mrs. Frank W. Chappell, of Dallas, Texas.

Miss Smart was central figure yesterday at the luncheon and handkerchief shower at which Miss Gladys Morrison entertained in her honor. A color motif of red and white was carried out and those present were Misses Smart, Morrison, Laura Belle Wilder, Mary Clark, Frances Towns, Alice Brim, Mrs. W. A. Smart and Mrs. J. G. Morrison.

Miss Estelle Harris Weds Mr. Eidson.

The marriage of Miss Estelle Harris and Mr. Franklin Eidson, was solemnized Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Harris, in Brookhaven. The bride wore a gown of royal blue velvet, trimmed with rhinestone buttons. She wore a becoming small turban and accessories to match. Her shoulder bouquet was of lilies of the valley and talismans roses.

The musical program was rendered by Mrs. W. D. Bartfield, assisted by Miss Marjorie Ann Kreuger. The ceremony was performed before an improvised altar of palms and white chrysanthemums and flanked by tall vases holding flowers and lighted cathedral tapers.

The maid of honor, the bride's only attendant, Miss Audrey Wooten, wore a model of dark red velvet with turban and accessories to match, and a shoulder bouquet of roses and lilies.

The lovely bride entered with her father, J. R. Harris, by whom she was given in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Fred Brooks.

The bride wore a gown of royal blue velvet, trimmed with rhinestone buttons. She wore a becoming small turban and accessories to match. Her shoulder bouquet was of lilies of the valley and talismans roses.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held, and the bride's mother was assisted in entertaining by the bride's aunts, Mrs. E. P. Aiken and Mrs. W. N. Ferguson. Mrs. Floyd Harris cut the cake.

The bride changed her dress for a traveling suit of tan tweed sweater style, worn with a brown blouse and accessories to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Eidson left for points of interest in Florida and upon their return on January 1, they will reside in Chambliss, where the groom is a successful young businessman.

Mrs. Raines To Entertain.

Mrs. Leonora S. Raines will entertain at an informal tea at her home at 7050 Piedmont avenue on Sunday afternoon, the occasion to assemble congenial friends of the hostess.

How Are You Feeling Today?

ARE you nervous... weak... rundown? Are you able to do your housework as easily as you used to? Does the world look drab and dull? Do you feel cross... irritable... blue? Do you cry for no good reason? Do you lie down often?

Don't be discouraged. Perhaps all you need to put you on your feet once more is that good old reliable medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound. Made from Mother Nature's own roots and herbs, it has helped four generations of American women to feel better and look better. IT MUST be good when so many praise it. Why don't you get a bottle today? All druggists sell it.

"I Wanted To Be By Myself"

says Mrs. Mildred Comstock of Box 375, Tonkawa, Oklahoma.

"At the Change I thought I was losing my mind. I had indigestion from a nervous stomach, terrible headaches, I lost weight and was blue and discouraged. My sister-in-law told me to take your Vegetable Compound. I took four bottles and I also followed your fine advice in your little book on health. Now I can do all my work and I am gaining every day."

"I Had Trouble Every Month Until I Took Your Wonderful Medicine"

says Miss Ella Nelson of 445 Nicollet Avenue, North Mankato, Minnesota.

"Before I took the Vegetable Compound I was irregular, had terrible sick headaches, felt tired and had no pep. I felt mean and everything used to bother me so. I was so nervous that I could hardly work. So many people recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I got a bottle. It did me so much good that I kept on. Now I am much better, do not have the pains and am able to work. I am glad to tell other girls and women how good it is."

My Day By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

BOSTON, Monday.—My reading material has been varied the last few days. I have reviewed a thrilling boy's novel for the Junior Literary Guild and last evening I read Harper's Magazine practically from cover to cover.

If anyone cares to read something which will give plenty of food for thought, I think they will find an article by C. Hartley Grattan "Back to Work; When and Where?" very interesting. After all, the most vital question to many people in this country today is not only how to get back to work, but how to get work if they have never had any work experience before. Everyone who has a job must be interested in this question, for the tenure of his job depends upon his ability to keep other people at work and putting on your people as they come to working age, into jobs which will provide them with a living wage.

I saw an article in yesterday's paper stating that $3,600 a year was really the minimum on which an average family could lead a satisfactory existence. Most of us know that a very great percentage of our people see only from $200 to $600 cash in hand during the course of a year. Many, many others have incomes under $1,000 or ranging from $1,000 to $2,000 a year.

This problem involves so many people that we cannot just say: "Let the government solve it." We, as a people, must solve it by deciding on the type of social and economic philosophy which we wish to see established in this country. When we know what changes we want, we can then set government machinery to work to accomplish them.

The first article in Harper's called "The Provincial Lady in Moscow" is a delightful travel article, and I recommend it when you need to laugh. The little touch about keeping the door open to let the cockroach out was quite delightful.

People are being so kind, the waiters who bring in our food, the taxi drivers, all Franklin's friends and our own are more than thoughtful. We still live a quiet and monotonous existence eating round the hospital or hotel. Things seem to be progressing smoothly, however, and for that we are all grateful.

We have made one innovation, we walk from the hotel to the hospital, or back, at least twice a day. Boston has innumerable quaint, small shops down intriguing little streets. Some day I know I shall be weak and begin to investigate them, which will make my walk a very much longer one.

Miss Petee Honors Beta Upsilon Mus Give Scavenger Hunt.

Miss Dorothy Petee, lovely young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Petee, entertained at a tea-dance yesterday in compliment to the senior class of Washington Seminary, of which she is a popular member.

The entire membership of the class, a few additional friends and an equal number of young men assembled for the occasion. In the rooms where dancing was enjoyed, the seminary colors of blue and gold were featured in the elaborate decorations. A canopy was formed of ribbon streamers, and blue and gold streamers festooned the walls.

Miss Petee was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. Petee. The young hostess wore a frock of black tulle embroidered in emerald green and trimmed in green velvet ribbon. Her hat also was trimmed in green.

Miss Petee chose black velvet with matching accessories, and a small black turban completed her costume.

Luncheon Given.

An interesting event was the luncheon given on Monday for the members of the Garden Hills Woman's Club, at the home of the late Samuel Isaac Burdett. Present were Mesdames W. E. Hardman, Robert Johnson, T. E. Womack, Harry Allen, Arthur Burdett, Lawrence Burdett, J. W. Gilstrap, Harry Jones, Sterling Culpeper, Howell S. Copeland, Charles Hubbard, Pat Hall, James H. Hardman, Lewis M. Herndon, W. J. Mathias, John B. Smith, Lawrence McKinley and Mesdames Pauline Trimble, Eunice Burdett, Polly Burdett, Miriam Copeland and Tilly May Womack.

Hostesses for the occasion were Miss Pauline Trimble and Mrs. Burney H. Hardman.

"I started taking your Vegetable Compound when my first baby was born, 19 years ago. I felt terribly sick and nervous and my back ached all the time. I took five bottles then and since then I usually take it Spring and Fall. I am now 36 years old. I have a daughter 19 and a boy 17, and I am often taken for their sister when I go walking with them."

GRANT TROUNCES ERNEST SUTTER; MEETS HENDRIX

Bitsy's Easy Victory Surprises Gallery; Bowl Teams Taper Off.

By Kenneth Gregory.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Three seeded stars led by the favored Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant, of Atlanta, moved into the semi-finals of the Sugar Bowl tennis tournament today in the third day of New Orleans' mid-winter sports festival.

While quarter-final matches were run off in the tennis show, the football teams of Santa Clara and Louisiana State, opponents in the New Year's Day gridiron classic, drilled for the battle on widely separated fields.

Coach Lawrence (Buck) Shaw and his Santa Clara Broncos engaged in two sessions during the first day of a two-day stopover in Houston and Bernie Moore, the Louisiana State pilot, sent the Tigers through a taping-out workout at Baton Rouge.

Headline Grant topped star of the tennis competition, Frankie Parker, the youngster from Lawrenceville, N. J.; Arthur Hendrix, of Lakeland, Fla., who won the Sugar Bowl tournament a year ago, and Martin Buxby, of Miami, Fla., advanced to the semi-final bracket.

One seeded performer, John McDiarmid, of Chicago, a bespectacled professor at Princeton University, was eliminated in a closely-fought three-set match with Buxby, who survived by the count of 6-1, 3-6, 7-5.

Grant surprised the galleries with the ease in which he won from Ernest Sutter, of New Orleans, the national intercollegiate champion, 6-2, 6-1. The Atlanta star meets Hendrix, 6-4, 0-6, 6-4, conqueror of Elwood Cooke, of Portland, Ore., in tomorrow's competition.

Parker meets Buxby in the lower bracket. Walter Senior, lanky California state champion, from San Francisco, was Parker's quarter-final victim by the score of 6-2, 6-4.

In Baton Rouge, Coach Moore announced light, tapering-off work for Louisiana State for the next three days. He said the drills would be lighter and lighter until game time.

"The boys are ready now, but the big question is whether they will be good enough," Moore said after today's workout.

A basketball game between Tennessee's Volunteers and Southeastern conference champions, and Arkansas Razorbacks, title-holders in the Southwest conference, is scheduled for tomorrow night. Finals in the tennis tournament are scheduled Thursday afternoon.

Sugar Bowl officials have arranged special entertainment for the fans throughout the week for Santa Clara fans, competing athletes and visiting sports writers.

A regatta and rowing races are on the program for Sunday, January 3.

Albany Club Purchased By Giants

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The championship New York Giants went into the baseball farm business in a big way today by taking over the Albany club of the International league and moving it to Jersey City.

Final papers will be signed tomorrow. Owner Joe Cambria, of the Albany club, informed Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International league, that the team, valued at approximately $50,000 in cash, was satisfactory.

President Shaughnessy advised the Giants the club is their property. President Hiram Starnham, of the Giants, said Travis Jackson, veteran infielder of the Giants, would be offered the management of the Jersey City club and that everything possible would be done to make a winner of the team that finished last in 1936.

The job is his if he wants it. And I imagine he'll be delighted with the chance now that his major league career seems to be over," Starnham said of Jackson.

Jersey City will train next spring in Guilford, Miss. Albany and the Giants have all but completed their 1937 spring training exhibition schedule. Starnham said a few games with the Jersey City farm would be sandwiched in.

"We intend to give Jersey City every bit of help we can," said Starnham. "I'll draw the general policies of the club from this office and buy the best players we can. We won't finish last in the International league with Jersey City in '37, I promise."

Roosevelt stadium seats 32,500, so the Giants hope to break better than even financially with the club.

All 15 players on the Albany roster went with the deal. Some will be shipped to clubs of lower classification and some may be shipped to the other Giant farm, the Greenwold, Miss., club of the Carolina State league.

Jersey City lost its International league franchise before the start of the 1934 season. Although one of the best clubs in the Class A circuit, it had no place to play. The franchise was taken by Jack Corbett to Syracuse.

Cambria Denies Sale of Club

BAITIMORE, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Joe Cambria, owner of the Albany International league team, asserted tonight "there has been no sale of the Albany club as yet."

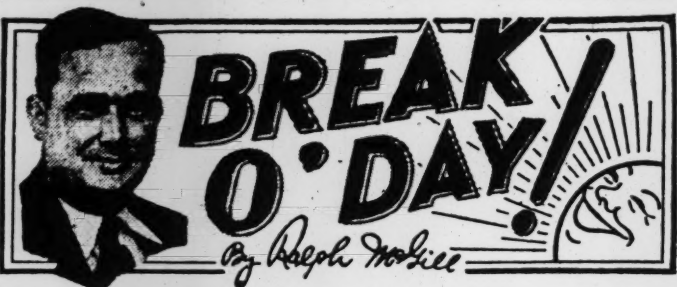

Cambria said he was notified of the agreement by the New York Giants of his offer to the major league team. He said he had not planned to sign any papers tomorrow.

While he declined to comment on the terms suggested by the Giants, Cambria intimated there would have to be further negotiations before any deal is completed.

"I have not sold the Albany club," he said earlier in the day, and as long as I am the owner, the club will remain in Albany."

Lookouts Purchase Harrison, Prep Star

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Dennis Harrison, former Memphis prep school outfielder, has been sold to the Chattanooga Lookouts for "around $1,000," advised from the Panama City, Fla., management, which made the sale, said today.

It was just a few years ago that Robert Tyre Jones fired a 64 over the old course at East Lake, which has a winter par of 70.

As I recall the card, it included seven birdies, ten pars and one hole on which he was one over par. The figures were 32 out and 32 in, a very respectable set of figures.

Mr. George Sargent, the esteemed professional at East Lake, said at the time that Bobby Jones was getting some 25 yards more distance on his drives than he had been getting since he began using steel-shafted clubs.

Now, 25 yards are a lot of yards on the golf course or on the football field. And the fact that Bobby Jones had, more or less all of a sudden, started getting those yards was interesting.

Having at last run Mr. Sargent to earth, so to speak, and finding him with some leisure, I asked him to explain. He did, as follows:

"Experiments by the late Francis Jenkins, who made us our slow motion pictures some years ago, showed this unusual difference in the swings of a wood-shafted club and a steel one. The head of the steel-shafted club went in a bit ahead of the club. The shaft was more flexible and the weight of the clubhead carried it in. The wood-shafted clubhead came in a bit late, the shaft being bent back a bit at the moment of impact.

"I played several times with Bobby Jones at the time he was winning his championships. He was, of course, using the wooden shafts. He was teeing the ball a bit high and hitting up a bit on the ball. He took it off without disturbing the tee.

"When he began to use the steel shafts the tendency was, largely because of the action of the clubhead, to hit a bit down on the ball. This took off some of his distance.

"Well, I think, he has become so accustomed to the steel he again is hitting up on the ball. This gives more distance."

It is, of course, obvious that hitting down on the ball will detract from the distance of its flight. But getting 25 additional yards by a very slight change in the swing is rather vividly illustrative of what precision means in a swing.

ALL OF WHICH TEACHES—

All of which teaches, or should teach, how very important it is for the golf duffer to humbly place himself in the hands of his golf professional and is Maker when he begins to consider his game.

If his Maker has given him enough wrinkles in his cerebrum and cerebellum, and if he pays enough attention to his professional and practice, he may in time become a golfer.

But the golf duffer, struggling along with steel shafts, which all golf clubs seem to have in this age of steel and iron, would no more realize the fact his clubhead was moving in a bit ahead of the shaft than he would grasp Einstein's theory of relativity in a cursory glance.

Yet this little factor was responsible for Bobby Jones dropping some 25 yards in distance and it has required of him several years of patient work to master the change.

It will be very interesting to see Bobby Jones in the Masters' tournament this spring. Not that he may be expected to win it. The touring professionals, whose game is sharpened by almost continuous competition, have too much of an edge over a player who competes once a year.

But very often small factors make for great results. He was impatient with his game in previous appearances at Augusta. He may not be again.

But at any rate, the golf duffer who wishes to play well enough to enjoy his game, should he himself to the professional of his choice and do what teacher says.

AN ALL-WINTER TURF.

A recent bulletin on turf culture issued by the U. S. G. A. contained a bit of interesting information. It said, in discussing the effect of cold weather on golf greens and fairways:

"Practically all the cultivated bents, bluegrasses and fescues are tolerant of intense cold when they are in a dormant state. Conditions which induce active growth usually lower resistance to cold."

This is a problem which has interested the golf professionals in the south. A great part of their work is with turf and they conduct dozens of experiments.

The search in the south, of course, is for an "all-winter" turf. At present there must be two sets of greens, one for winter and one for summer, each covered with a special turf.

SARGENT HAS HOPES.

George Sargent has hopes that within the near future an all-winter turf will be available.

"With the assistance of the P. G. A. and the U. S. G. A., we have," he said, "been conducting experiments. We believe we may have something. We almost are ready to go with it."

Howard Beckett, at the Capital City Club, also has been experimenting with turf for some years. He was a member of the U. S. G. A. committee on greens and carried on considerable experiments."

The south must use Bermuda because the heat of summer destroys the bent. And the cold takes away the Bermuda. It should be possible, by experiment, to develop a turf which will be hardy enough to withstand extreme heat and cold.

Van Der Meer Named Best in Minors

CINCINNATI, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The baffling speed ball that made Johnny van Der Meer a strikeout sensation of the minor leagues last season may give the National league its prize rookie of 1937.

The 22-year-old graduate of the Cincinnati Reds' Durham, N. C., baseball farm was named today by Sporting News, the baseball weekly, as the outstanding minor league player of 1936.

It was the first year the magazine had made such an award. It recognized van Der Meer ahead of the field because of the 235 strikeouts in the 12 weeks he pitched for Durham.

In a single game, van Der Meer struck out 20 men and his record for Durham showed 19 victories against 6 defeats. He held Durham's opponents to an earned run average of 2.65 a game.

Manager Charles Dressen instructed van Der Meer to report for 1937 spring training on the basis of a recommendation by Johnny Gooch, who managed Durham last season.

Gooch, who spent years as a first string catcher for Pittsburgh, Boston and Cincinnati summed up his opinion of van Der Meer with the statement, "I can't think of anyone as fast as he is."

"Catching him you have to have your mitt set one way and you don't have time to shift it when he lets go the ball."

PITTSBURGH HUSKIES IN LONG DRILLS FOR COAST GAME

Broncos Practice in Houston for Sugar Bowl Contest With L. S. U.

By Robert Myers.

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Tapering off preparations for the Rose Bowl game New Year's Day, the Pittsburgh and Washington football squads went through lengthy signal drills today on slippery fields.

The Golden Panthers held their usual double workout at their San Bernardino hideout. Coach Jimmy Phelan sent his Washington Huskies through a stiff session here.

Changing plans, Jack Sutherland, Pittsburgh's big chief, decided to move the squad to Pasadena late tomorrow, and use the Rose Bowl for a final workout Thursday.

Prospects of a duel of crackerjack ball crackerjacks at the game drew near. Phelan may start a backfield of Chuck Newton at quarterback, Jimmy Johnston at left half and Merle Miller at full, all of whom are sophomores, and the capable veteran, Jimmy Cain, at right half back.

This would mean he would be prepared to rush in his firewagon brigade of Byron Haines, Ed Nowogroski, Elmer Logg and Fritz Wawrowicz, or Leavain in to complete the scoring ensemble, if the Huskies encountered heavy going.

Pitt's challenge to the Washington attack lies in young Marshall Goldberg, sophomore star, Bobby La Rue, veteran half, a capable blocker; three crashing fullbacks, Bill Stapulis, Frank Patrick and Arnold Greene, and two Johns, Chickerno and Michelson, to round out the backfield delegation.

L. S. U. May Stage Air Attack.

By Ed Desobry.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Santa Clara may get a post-game course in forward passing in the Sugar Bowl football game here with Louisiana State on New Year's Day.

The Breast after that 9-0 aerial drubbing handed them by Sammy Baugh, of Texas Christian, may be inclined to think they've seen the ultimate in pigskin tossing but Louisiana fans aren't inclined to agree.

The Tiger exhibit is Pat Coffey and Gaynell Tinsley. Coffey is the L. S. U. backfield boy who tosses the ball into the atmosphere and watches it fall always (fans say) into the arms of All-American Ed Tinsley for a touchdown.

There's a whole lot in the records to back that up. Tinsley has taken in so many of those heaves that he's the leading scorer on the L. S. U. team.

Of course, that's just the L. S. U. side of it. Santa Clara counters simply by saying Coffey and Tinsley haven't yet left Santa Clara.

With All-American Falsch and the other great defensive stars, who allowed opponents only 22 points all season, they're pretty confident there won't be any more slumps like the Baugh episode.

Meanwhile, Coach Bernie Moore, of the Tigers, in Baton Rouge, was having more of extra points than he was of passing.

He remembered sadly the 2-3 licking handed his team in the past Sugar Bowl game by T. C. U.

In Houston, Texas, the Broncos galloped through a secret practice and Coach Lawrence Shaw spoke gloomily of Louisiana's "great running attack and line passing."

"While we may not have the reserves Louisiana State boasts," he said, "Bernie Moore can't play but 11 men at the time."

Auburn, Villanova Hold Scrimmages.

HAVANA, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The Auburn and Villanova football teams went through their paces under a warm sun and with the temperature around 80 degrees today in preparation for the New Year's Day game which will climax Havana's first winter sports week program.

Despite the heat, both teams staged scrimmages and went through stiff general drills. The Plainsmen drilled at the Jeannette Club and Villanova at the Vedado Club.

Auburn's first stringers scrimmaged with a team composed of second and third string players. Ron and McKee at guard performed well in the line. Sitz and Kelly were the most effective ball carriers. Blake, Kelly and Fenton got in some punting practice.

Villanova featured aerial plays, both on the offense and defense in a dummy scrimmage. The team appeared to be in shape and a contact work was held to a minimum.

Maroons Hold Drill in Birmingham.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 29.—(AP)—The Mississippi State football team, bound for Miami and the New Year's Day Orange Bowl game with Duquesne, worked out briefly here this afternoon.

Ralph Sasse, head coach, was not with his charges as they went through a passing drill. Captain John Stokes, line coach, said the squad was in fine physical condition and would "shoot the works at Miami."

Dukes To Scrimmage This Afternoon.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Duquesne's football squad started off with a light workout beneath a warm Florida sun today in preparation for the Orange Bowl game with Mississippi State.

A little concerned over the change in temperature, the Pittsburgh coach ordered a light drill in the morning before an afternoon scrimmage, but his wisdom caused him to be shipped to Durham. Gooch suggested a few changes in the style of delivery and soon van Der Meer started the victory string on which he averaged approximately two strikeouts for each inning he pitched over a 12-week period.

REDDIGS WIN.

The Georgia Evening School basketball team last night swamped the Calvary Methodists in a one-sided game, 57 to 26, on the Calvary court.

Starring for the Reddigs were: Smith, who scored 23 points; Smith, playing for Calvary, netted 10 points; while D. Enlow and Kidd scored 9 points each for the winners.

Mann Named Best Executive In Minor League Baseball

Sporting News Loud in Praise for Young Prexy.

By Ralph McGill.

Earl Mann, president of the Atlanta baseball club, yesterday was named as the outstanding executive in minor league baseball by the Sporting News, which for years has been the official baseball publication.

It was an unusual honor for the youngest executive in Class A-1 baseball and one of the youngest at the head of any baseball club.

It was a merited honor. Mann has, in two years at the head of the Atlanta club, headed an organization which drew more than 600,000 paid admissions to set a new minor league record.

Mann was the minor league choice. From the major leagues, the Sporting News chose Branch Rickey, the genius who developed the "chain" system in baseball. It is no secret that Rickey regards Mann as the outstanding executive in the minor leagues.

"I am, of course, very pleased to learn about it," said Mann yesterday. "I hope I can justify my opinion."

Joe McCarthy, of the Yankees, and Allan Sotheron, of the Milwaukee Brewers, were the managers chosen. Carl Hubbell, of the Giants, and John van der Meer, of the Durham and Nashville clubs, were the pitchers chosen.

The citations, the weekly announced, went to:

(1) Rickey because of the advancement of three of his executives to high positions—George Trahan to presidency of the American association, Warren Giles to vice presidency and general management of the Cincinnati Reds, and Bill Dwyer to vice presidency and general management of the St. Louis Browns—as well as for his administration of the expanding Cardinals.

(2) Mann for efficient administration of the Atlanta club that enabled it, for the second successive year, to draw more than 600,000 attendees, a record for a minor league club.

(3) McCarthy for piloting the Yankees to the American league pennant in 1935, the first of the series in the history of the majors, and to the world championship.

(4) Sotheron for leading Milwaukee to the American association championship in three years.

(5) Hubbell for leading all major league hurlers in victories with 26, in winning percentage, .515, and in extra innings, 2.41, in addition to winning 16 games in a row and leading the National league pitchers in Cincinnati.

COACHES OPPOSE CHANGE IN RULES

Proposed Alteration of Interference Proviso Fizzles Out.

By Alan Gould.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Agitation for a change in the forward pass interference rule, especially with regard to the "chain" chest, after of goal-line penalties, fizzled out almost completely today, so far as the American Football Coaches Association is concerned.

After scrimmaging through the first half of their two-day annual meeting, listening to quick oratorical thrusts off tackle, and viewing motion pictures of the history of college coaches made it clear they favor no change in the existing rules, even though many feel the interpretation by gridiron officials is not all that it should be.

"Barring unforeseen developments or an attempt to bring the issue up on the floor tomorrow, I don't think there is any sentiment for changing the present rule defining pass interference," declared Lou Little, of Columbia, chairman of the coaches' rules committee.

"Many coaches feel that officials should strive for more uniform and consistent interpretation of the rule," Little added.

Little's committee, except for a few possible suggestions for rules clarification, will recommend a "status quo" for 1937. The annual report of Walter Oakes, of Lehigh, chairman of the National Collegiate A. A. rules committee, likewise forecast no rules change in the passing regulations.

The coaches will conclude their annual meeting tomorrow by electing Kipke to replace D. O. (Tubby) McLaughlin, of Brown, as president. As first vice president now, Kipke's elevation will be automatic for 1937.

For when Averill, of Nashville, thought his team had come out on the long end of the score and picked up the ball as a trophy at the end of the game, the crowd of 1,500 swarmed onto the field after him, and "one miscreant pulled a knife," old newspaper files revealed tonight.

Nashville's brawn, augmented by two players from a Louisville club and a million from Yale, availed him little during the first half. The "intrepid Pelican pigskin pushers" used all the science they could muster, and, until they became winded, piled up 10 touchdowns.

SOUTHERN SCORE. Fullback Brooke ran the ball back 40 yards, Nashville tacklers sliding from his sides, mauling him in the end zone. Southern's 4, Nashville 0.

Trouble began over the extra two points. The teams lined up, but just as the S. A. C. boys were ready to kick, a Nashville player ran through the line and grabbed the ball. He said a rule had been broken.

Empire Leitch Carroll gave his mouthpiece a twist, though a moment, pronounced Nashville officials and gave New Orleans two points. But the Pelicans would have none of it. They refused the "gift" and then failed to make them the hard way.

To everyone's surprise, the underdog Southern team made another touchdown. But again failed to make the extra points. The half ended, either 10-0 or 8-0.

From then on the locals bowed to the boys from Tennessee. The Pelicans were winded and able to finish the game only because of the many timeouts the rules allowed. Nashville made two touchdowns and scored a goal. To local fans, the score was 10-10 and they were elated because their underdog team had upset the dope sheets.

WANT THE BALL. But to Nashville, the score was 10-8 in their favor and they wanted to take back that ball to Tennessee. When Averill started off the field with it, a dozen spectators jumped up. They were joined by more and more supporters, until, finally, the two policemen there had to call out the reserves.

The rest of the crowd, not knowing what the riot was about, but not caring to miss anything, joined in. Umbrellas were bent and canes cracked many a head. When it was all over, the holiday crowd limped home, the score 10-8.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 29.—(UP)—The New York Yankees and Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals each named two players on the Sporting News 1936 all-star baseball team, announced today.

Remainder of the team was made up of one man each from the Cleveland Indians, Detroit Tigers, Chicago White Sox and Philadelphia Athletics, giving the American league six representatives to the National's four.

American league pitcher was selected. Lou Gehrig, of the Yankees, came nearest to being a unanimous choice among the members of the Baseball Writers' Association, polling 207 out of a possible 211 votes. The lineup:

1—Joe Medwick, Cardinals. 2—Earl Averill, Indians. 3—Mel Ott, Giants. 4—Lou Gehrig, Yankees. 5—Charley Gehringer, Tigers. 6—Luke Appling, White Sox. 7—Frank Higgins, Athletics. 8—Bill Dickey, Yankees. 9—Clyde Scharf, Giants. 10—Dixie Dean, Cardinals.

Score of Battle Between Nashville, Southern Athletic Club Still Unknown.

By Walter Logan, United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29.—Nashville had the brawn, the Southern Athletic Club boys had the brains, and the first "Sugar Bowl" game January 1, 1937, which ended either 10-10, or 10-8 in favor of the Santa Clara boys, wound up in "a disgraceful assault on the visiting team, narrowly missing serious proportions."

It was that disputed score which made the first New Year's Day game here 40 years ago as famous then as the various Bowl affairs are now.

For when Averill, of Nashville, thought his team had come out on the long end of the score and picked up the ball as a trophy at the end of the game, the crowd of 1,500 swarmed onto the field after him, and "one miscreant pulled a knife," old newspaper files revealed tonight.
